Cottage Colony Society Life

NOT SINCE the halcyon days following the construction of beautiful "El Mirasol," when showplaces were springing up overnight, has Palm Beach presented as gay and cosmopolitan a countenance to its visitors as it does this year.

To miss the Palm Beach season with its leisurely grace and worthwhile design for living was inconceivable to the smart set of that era and there are indications in this famous resort that 1941 heralds a return to the fascinating days when the nation's leading families and many smart Continental visitors were building the distinctive homes and lovely estates that now comprise the cottage colony.

Among the glamorous names associated with the development of the Palm Beach cottage colony into one of the world's smartest residential areas are the civic minded and sports-loving Phipps families, who put high goal polo on the map in the Palm Beach area and did much to develop the island, the Guests, from their distinguished head of the family, the Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest, to bronzed virile Winston and Raymond Guest, brilliant Joseph E. Widener, who made his home among his friends in Palm Beach, despite his interests at beautiful Hialeah, the Huttons, Mrs. James Donahue, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Messrs Charles and Gurnee Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams, and other names that are legend in Palm Beach.

Much of the credit for the added lustre of the present season must go of course to the acquisition of many members of the international set, who have spent some part of the past few seasons in Continental spas and are once again taking an active part in the social life of this colony.

The lovely and gorgeously gowned Mrs. Harrison Williams and her industrialist husband have been hosts to several interesting social gatherings since Mrs. Williams' return from the Continent and are once more taking their place among the island's social luminaries. Their beautiful villa has been the background for a continuity of distinctive parties. Among their guests during early season are numbered the Hon. Mrs. Aileen Plunkett, Mr. Andre Embiricos, Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Count Rene de Chambrun.

Mrs. Williams is taking an active interest in the social colony's plans to raise funds and send various types of aid to Great Britain. Before leaving New York, she devoted much of her time to the Greek War Relief Association, of which Mr. Harold Stirling Vanderbilt is chairman. At the dinner-dance which was held at the Ritz-Carlton for this cause, her guests included the Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, Countess Marie Mercati and Mrs. Pierpont Morgan Hamilton.

Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and his lovely wife are again among the resort's most interesting hosts. While Mrs. Kennedy and her children were in Palm Beach during part of the season last year, and Mr. Kennedy was a brief visitor, the exigencies of state matters and a desire to avoid the limelight during his tenure as Ambassador to Great Britain kept their social activities down to a minimum last season. This year finds them entertaining at several interesting parties for their circle of friends.

Another distinguished member of the cottage colony, who, with his attractive wife is entertaining extensively this season, is the Hon. Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Belgium. Their spacious estate, which is one of the most impressive sights on the island, continues to be the setting for a series of gay parties. Early-season guests include Senator James J. Davis, Mr. Alfons B. Landa, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill MacNeille and their two children, Mrs. Aldace Walker and her daughter.

A New Year's eggnog party at Mar-a-Lago found the Hon. Joseph E. Davies and Mrs. Davies hosts to a list of guests that read like an excerpt from "Who's Who In America" and the "Social Register."

In addition to members of their house-party their guests were former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fitzgerald, Dr. and Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Fatio, Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Page Hufty, Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. Wichfield, the Marquis and Marquise de Cuevas, Senator and Mrs. Frederick M. Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dillman, Colonel and Mme. Louis Jacques Balsan, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder, Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Noyes Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre L. Barbey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Paulding Fosdick, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Procter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oliver Rea, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Jor-

Mrs. John Francis Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Reeves, dan Eller, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Kay.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wood Robert, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glasgow, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Ditman, Mr. and Mrs. John Holliday Perry, Mr. and Mrs. J. Terry West, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Replogle, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waterbury, Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, Mrs. Charles O. Pearsons, Mrs. Wannamaker Munn, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Mrs. Harold Walker, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. E. H. G. Slater, Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, the Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest.

Mrs. Theodore E. Frelinghuysen, Mrs. John C. King, Mrs. Annie Breniser, Mrs. Diana Guest, Mrs. Francis A. Shaughnessy, Mr. Stewart McDonald, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. Noel Munn, Captain Alastair Mackintosh, Mr. Milton W. Holden, Mr. Gurnee Munn, Mr. William G. Warden, Mr. George G. Frelinghuysen, Mr. Harvey S. Ladew, and Mr. Herbert Pulitzer.

Hundreds of friends gathered to do honor to Mr. John Shepard, Jr., one of Palm Beach's most popular and distinguished residents on his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary on New Year's Day. Mr. and Mrs. Shepard received their guests in the attractive loggia of their patio, which was banked with quantities of flowers, many of them gifts of friends in tribute to the occasion. Assisting were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Shepard. Their guests numbered several hundred of the colony's leading social and civic leaders.

Mrs. Margaret Emerson, whose daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Somers Roche who were her house-guests this season, has entertained at a number of attractive dinner parties since her arrival in Palm Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Crocker were the guests of honor at a recent party, with thirty or more of the colony's residents attending.

With Mr. Hugh Dillman, President of the Everglades Club, and his wife, at "Playa Riente" were her daughter, Mrs. Timothy Godde and Mr. Godde of New York; her son, Mr. Horace E. Dodge, 2nd, and Mrs. Dodge, with Miss Delphine Dodge and Mr. Horace E. Dodge, 3d, of Gross Point, Mich. Mrs. Dillman's magnificent ocean front castle with its famous Sert panels and striking architecture, has been the background for numerous small parties for her many friends in the colony.

Col. and Mrs. Louis Jacques Balsan haven't missed a Palm Beach season since the completion of their island home. The former Duchess of Marlborough has been hostess to many of the nobility, including her son, the present Duke of Marlborough, during her reign on her island principality. The Balsan island is unique in its beauty and its absolute privacy, their home being effectively guarded from prying eyes and idle sight-seers as a moated castle in medieval times.

Mrs. Balsan's brother, Mr. Harold Stirling Vanderbilt and Mrs. Vanderbilt are across the lake neighbors and many gay parties have been formed from this nucleus since the erection of the Vanderbilt manse and the Balsan island stronghold. The Vanderbilts were hosts to a recent party that included Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cushing, Miss Louise Iselin, Mr. Alfred O. Hoyt and Mr. Edwin Fish.

The Marquis and Marquise de Cuevas have spent the past three seasons in Palm Beach, and are listed among the glamorous international set.

With Palm Beach at its loveliest and the social season blossoming out into what promises to be the most interesting and active winter in the history of the island, the incoming socialites from the world's capitols are viewing a resort that should be a revelation to those who have not kept up with its growth, and are seeing America's exclusive spa for the first time in many years.

The dominating social motif this season is of course the British War Relief, with all of the pretentious parties to revolve around the activities of the group of socialites who have become associated with the vital movement.

Mrs. Robert P. Huntington, as Honorary Chairman of the Palm Beach committee of the British War Relief Society, Inc., heads a list of socialites that include Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock as working Chairmen; Co-Vice Chairmen are Mrs. Charles Alexander and Mrs. Askel C. P. Wichfield. Mrs. Henry K. Harding is the new secretary and Mrs. Bert Tweed the newly-elected treasurer. This distinguished group plan a series of activities for this outstanding cause.

"Bundles for Britain," is another important movement in this field. The Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest is president of this group. Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury is Honorary President of the Palm Beach Committee and other officers are Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, Vice-President; Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Chairman; Mr. Hugh Dillman, Chairman of the entertainment committee, Mr. Bert Teed, Treasurer, Mr. John H. Morice, Assistant Treasurer.

Many of the colony's socialites have branched out in various ways to further this same cause. Mrs. Robert McCoskry Butt is one of the trail-blazers, her sponsorship of a young girls' organization who are doing knitting and other things for British War Relief is among the colony's most worthwhile ventures. Their "Tri-Color Club" promises to establish an interesting precedent among the youngsters of high-school age.

COLONEL LOUIS JACQUES BALSAN

Who with Mrs. Balsan, are spending the season at their spacious estate on Hypoluxo Island in Lantana.

Florida's Spiritual Retreat

ALL OF the mystic appeal of the sanctuaries of Biblical tradition and the promise of spiritual consolation that has brought countless millions to the Mohammedan's Mecca, to the teeming waters of the river Ganges and other retreats, where earthbound mortals have striven to commune with their Creator since the days of the primitive peoples—all this and more is to be found in Florida's "Singing Tower" and "Mountain Lake Sanctuary," Edward Bok's contribution to the nation's aesthetic life.

To the uninitiated, those who have not stood in the shadow of the Singing Tower amid the peaceful beauty of the outdoor Sanctuary at Mountain Lake, it might be well to explain that this garden spot of the spirit is not just another of the state's many beautiful gathering places.

The sun-kissed loveliness and the healthful charm of cultivated Palm Beach, the startlingly translucent waters of Silver Springs; St. Augustine's fascinating old world charm and the countless other tropical offerings to be found in a state abounding with fascinating sights, are not to be placed in the same category with Bok's inspired creation.

"The Spirit of Sanctuary," a garden of loveliness surrounding a dream tower, where mortals may shake off the cares and strife of mundane matters and renew their acquaintanceship with their maker. This comes very close to describing Bok's "Singing Tower" and the Mountain Lake Sanctuary.

A Sunrise Service at the Sanctuary is a never-to-be forgotten experience. With the music of Anton Brees, Bellmaster of the Sanctuary Bells, emerging from the mist covered tower and settling down on the hushed throng like a benediction as you stand amid the fragrant scent of tropical flowers in a setting of surpassing beauty, it is little wonder that you note isolated little groups whose faces seem to be transfigured and whose spirits seem to be divorced from earthly matters.

These Carillon Recitals may be heard at the Sanctuary between December 1st until Tuesday, April 29th, and during this period the tower and gardens welcomed their greatest number of visitors. Everyone who can possibly do so should attend the Sunrise Service on Easter Day. It is a spiritual treat and a renewing of that inspiration which is one of the necessities of our daily life as well as a needed stimulus to the full appreciation of the defined arts.

To provide a retreat of natural beauty for the human was the thought behind the Singing Tower, which is built amid a harmonious setting that provides a study of Southern planting. In these purposes, as in all its traditions, the Sanctuary differs essentially from a public park.

Complementing the gracious beauty and classical lines of the Singing Tower, the Mountain Lake Sanctuary is situated in the very center of Florida and is a natural halt for a native as well as migratory birds passing north and south, or crossing the highlands from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico. As Florida is also a terminal in the great Alleghanian flight tract, many Northern birds will winter in the Sanctuary, once they are sure of protection, thus saving the lives of thousands in their bi-annual migration.

The Sanctuary finds its bird visitors appreciably increasing each year. Identified in this gorgeous tropical garden are one hundred and eleven species, native or migrant. These do not include the aquatic birds of surrounding lakes, as such birds rarely visit at the height of Iron Mountain.

It is estimated that about one hundred and thirty species of birds will eventually visit the Sanctuary. Besides the widely varied foliage, which offers shelter to birds of differing needs, thousands of bushes have been planted to supply them with berry food, such as Ilex glabra, Ilex vomitoria, Duranta plumieri, and Elaeagnus umbellata. Many bird baths scattered throughout this garden spot give the necessary shallow drinking places.

Since there is no month when birds are not nesting in some part of Florida, this state is known to be the ideal haven for our feathered friends from all climes. April, however, is the Sanctuary's most satisfactory bird month, but at all seasons they are best seen in the early morning and evening, as they shelter in the thicker planting from the midday heat and glare of the sun.

Not the least of the beauty of the Sanctuary with its winding paths and enchanting vistas of sparkling little lakes and profusion of tropical growth, is found in the collection of lovely flamingos, whose stately beauty and pastel colors blend idyllically with vari-hued flowers and fresh green plants.

Art lovers from the world over, while unanimous in their paens of praise relative to the beautiful vistas in the Sanctuary and the surpassing loveliness of the Tower from every vantage point in the gardens, often differ as to which side furnishes the most beautiful setting for this architectural gem.

Suffice to say that the tower from every side offers an unusual beauty. Reminiscent of the glorious Taj Mahal is the vista over the mirrored lake, with the important difference that the glorious colors of Florida's tropical shrubbery flowers and trees bordering the lake seem to furnish a far lovelier natural setting than the formal planting featuring famous Indian shrine. The fluted spire with its stained glass windows and classic architecture rises out of the sheer jungle from one vantage point in the gardens, like a dream castle and reaching toward the heavens as it escapes the tentacles of a morass of jungle growth. Each view presents a study in classical beauty against an artistically landscaped setting.

Of interest is the tradition that the summit where the Singing Tower now stands was once a Sanctuary for the Indians of Central Florida. According to legend, the four tribes or gens assembled here for a ceremonial fasting and wailing of misdeeds. They then remained prostrate until the first rays of sunrise, when the medicine man struck from his whirling sticks the sacred fire from which all the year's fires were symbolically lighted, while the braves gave praise in the magnificent dance of the Rising Sun.

Bearing out this tradition, each Spring the Seminole Indians of Florida return to the Sanctuary to commemorate the ancient ceremony. Today's Seminoles say that like most Indians who sought the highest point of land in each district for gatherings, the four gens of these neighboring lakes, from whom many Seminoles descended, selected this natural site for their worship.

The Ilex vomitoria, from which their ceremonial purge was made, grows in the Sanctuary, as does the Zania or Coontie, called "God's Gift to the Seminole" for the life-sustaining bread made from its root.

For the present-day festivals of the Seminoles, the carillon plays three native dances, the only original Seminole folk music yet discovered. These record the various stages of Florida Indian history from the primitive Hunting Song, or the Mating Call, of deep interest to the ethnologist, to the later Chicken Dance, with its Spanish cock-fighting and clucking barnyard humors. The words and music of the Seminole Hymn, lost for many years and found by an Oklahoma Indian missionary, are attributed to Chief John Jumper and mark the Christianizing of Florida tribes.

Anton Brees, Bellmaster of the Sanctuary Bells, is acknowledged as the Master Carillonneur. Laureate of the Royal Flemish Conservatory, he was born at Antwerp, Belgium, at whose cathedral, his father, Gustaf Brees, was carillonneur for fifty-six years. Besides his virtuosity and fine spiritual quality, Anton Brees' playing is distinguished by his genuine understanding of the psychology of the carillon and the special tradition of this instrument, whose evolution has been so peculiarly at one with the peoples', the highest quality of whose daily life it both reflects and yet inspires.

The Belgian maestro's repertoire includes a universal range of classical excerpts, hymns, and established folk music, sometimes to meet the special requests of visiting societies or individuals, some of the finer of the popular songs are played, providing they have the true genre quality which is the idiom of the carillon.

The Sanctuary Bells, one of the finest carillons yet cast are noted for their distinctive sweetness and perfection of tone. The seventy-one bells cover a range of four and one-half octaves, whose scale is entirely chromatic from the largest bell's note, which is E. Flat. The lowest semi-tone bell is omitted, and the highest eighteen notes are duplicated to avoid the airy sound of small bells. The Bourdon Bell, also called the Tenor Bell, weighs approximately twenty-three thousand pounds, while the smallest bell weighs but eleven pounds.

The Sanctuary has an area of fifty-three acres and entirely comprises Iron Mountain, which is three hundred and twenty-four feet above sea level, the highest point of land in Florida, according to the United States Geographical Survey. It is also the highest land within sixty miles of the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico between Washington and the Rio Grande. Fourteen lakes are visible from the Sunset Plateau and thirty-six can be seen from the top of the tower. Two Sabal palms in the Glade by the northeast corner of the pool were planted by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, when, as President of the United States, Mr. Coolidge dedicated the Sanctuary.

Throughout its many details of individual beauty and a finely conceived symbolism, the spirit of the Sanctuary is legended in the Tower. The marble grille of the west window reveals traceries of a man creating a garden and of the east window, a youth feeding cranes and flamingoes from a seed-basket. The frieze encircling the Tower is a relief of pelicans, herons and the fabled characters of the goose and fox, the hare and tortoise. The north door depicts in yellow brass repousse, as in a golden blaze, the six days of creation recorded in Genesis. Like the moat gates, the richly detailed stairway and hanging lamps, all the wrought iron and hammered brass of the Tower show a richly inspired craftsmanship.

Mirrored in the calm depths of a placid pool, Edward Bok's aesthetic contribution to Florida and the nation stands proud and lovely amid a profusion of natural tropical growth. Bok Tower and the Mountain Lake Sanctuary furnish a spiritual retreat for thousands of visitors each year.

Among The Palms

THE BREAKERS, famed resort hotel opened officially December 21, which day also marked the opening of Cocoanut Grove. As in former years the noted hotel, distinguished for its luxurious accommodations, will play host to scores of personages well known here and abroad. Although it is early in the season many of the Breakers' winter colony have arrived to spend the winter. During the holidays there has been much entertaining at gay dinner and luncheon parties in the lovely circular dining room.

Cocoanut Grove, one of the resort's most popular gathering places at tea time has been the scene of much activity. Attractive palms and tropical foliage add background to the gayly colored tables which are crowded with parties during the late afternoon each day and also during the evening dance sessions. Walter Miller and his orchestra have returned to play their excellent music for the dancing as well as concert programs on Sunday evenings. Patricia and Burt Church, popular young dance instructors at the hotel have planned many features for the season ahead. Jackson Hines, well known Palm Beach baritone, entertains in Cocoanut Grove daily with interesting song programs.

Included among those of the cottage and hotel colony who have entertained in Cocoanut Grove are Mrs. A. H. Tipkens, Mrs. A. W. Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Noel M. Seeburg, Mrs. John Winchester Holman, Mrs. Andrew S. White, Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Eben H. Ellison, Mrs. Carter L. Gardner, Col. and Mrs. James R. Branch, Mr. Oscar Seebass, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Gayle Rosson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Winfield Chapin, and Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Beck.

Among regular season guests at the hotel who have arrived for another season's sojourn are: Mr. George Skinner, Chicago; Mr. Charles Sumner Woolworth, Scranton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richman, Atlantic City; Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Eben Howes Ellison, West Newton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. McQuesten, Marblehead, Mass.; Mrs. Herbert E. Gale, Boston; Mrs. John R. McGinley, Manchester, Mass.; Mr. William Wadsworth, Montclair, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stahl, Stamford, Conn.; Mr. J. J. Neuman, Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. Charles E. Townsend, Brookline, Mass.; Mr. Oscar Seebass, New York City.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Crowley, Palm Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, New York; Mr. William Harris Douglas, New York; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Kane, and Mr. C. H. Scott, Scarborough, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hinde, Toledo, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Henry McSweeney, Atlantic City, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Gayle Rosson, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Moody, West Newton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Garmany, Mrs. George W. Hale, Nashville, Tenn.; and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Noble, New York.

The Vineta Hotel, one of the foremost resort hostelries, is playing host to many of last season's guests who are already in residence and welcoming many new arrivals who plan to spend the season or a lengthy sojourn in Palm Beach.

The modernistic lounges and dining room of The Vineta provide ideal settings for delightful bridge and dinner parties. One of the favorite spots for luncheon parties is the sheltered patio, where many members of the nearby cottage colony as well as guests, take advantage of dining in the warm sunshine or have dinner underneath the stars.

The East gardens of the Vineta are especially delightful this season, with gayly colored garden furniture providing ample lounging facilities for those wishing an interval in the sun or the cooler spots of the shade.

One of the first social functions of the season at The Vineta was a delightful tea held for the guests of The Vineta, The Lake Court and the Brighton Hotel, with Mr. Ira S. Dunkle, managing director of the three hotels, as host. Many members of the cottage colony also attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Sr., of New York and Southampton are making a season sojourn at The Vineta. Mrs. H. H. Spalding, who has spent several winters at The Vineta is among those making a season's stay, and Mrs. Zenas Sears of Boston has joined the season guests.

Other arrivals include, Mr. John J. Daly, who was the first guest to register for the second successive season and who has recently been joined by Mrs. Daly; Mr. and Mrs. George M. Jackson, of Indianapolis, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Dyer of Stamford, Conn., Mrs. Lillian Daniels of Chicago, Mrs. D. D. Drake of Chicago.

The Brazilian Court Hotel was among the first of the fashionable resort hostelries to open for the season and again is under the direction of Mr. Elliott F. Bishop, who recently was appointed manager of all operations at Montauk Manor, Montauk, L. I. Brazilian Court has a great appeal for conservative members of society, industrial executives and diplomats who come to Palm Beach to rest and relax. The hotel is built around two patios, one for lounging and reading and the other for dining in the sunshine or under the stars.

Interesting arrivals of the past week were Mr. and Mrs. James Butler MacGuire of New York, who are here on their wedding trip. Mrs. MacGuire is the former Miss Mary Jane Cuddihy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lester Cuddihy of New York and Southampton, L. I. Her marriage to Mr. MacGuire took place on December 10th in New York at the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer. Prior to their visit here they were at Palm Springs, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt Barton have arrived at the hotel for their annual season visit. Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Halsted of Washington, D. C. have been at the hotel for several weeks. Mr. Halsted is assistant director of the R. F. C.

Mrs. A. Minford Bond and her son, Mr. Minford Wolcott Bond are at the Brazilian Court for their annual sojourn. Their summer home is at Bernardsville, N. J. Mr. Thomas L. Leeming of New York has arrived at the hotel for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Walter S. Goodwillie has returned for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Strong Mulford will be at their penthouse for the season. Their summer home is Oak Knoll, Montclair, N. J.

Mr. James J. Farrell is manager of the Palm Beach Hotel, which had its formal opening on December 21st. A comprehensive social program has been planned for this year, supervised by the new hostess, Miss Mary Tolerton, formerly of the Montauk Manor, Montauk, L. I., that will include Contract bridge, games, floor shows, and boat rides. Many season guests are already in residence at the Palm Beach, and during the season hundreds of northern visitors will make the Palm Beach their home.

Among recent arrivals are Monsieur Jacques Stern, former cabinet minister in several French democratic government cabinets, and Mrs. Stern and their son and daughter, Loup and Rosita Stern. Congressman Martin J. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy and their family were recent arrivals at the Palm Beach where they are annual visitors. During the summer they were at the Monmouth Hotel at Spring Lake, N. J., which is managed by Mr. Farrell. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Peters and Mrs. F. L. Fallard are new guests from Greenwich, Conn. and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Fallard are new guests from Greenwich, Conn. Mrs. E. H. Faile and her daughter, Miss Sally Faile are at the hotel for several weeks. Their yacht, Sally Too, is anchored in Lake Worth. Other guests include Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lucas, Milwaukee, Wis., Mrs. Frank J. Leahey, and son, Peter Leahey of Scarsdale, N. Y., who will be joined later by Mr. Leahey.

Soft colored medallions blend with beautifully painted panels in the ceiling of the Dining Lounge at the Breakers. Adding to the distinctive note in this room are the hand-carved candelabras and definitely Italian furniture.

America Leads The Fashion Parade

BANISHED to that limbo of exploded myths is the fallacy that America's foibles of fashion must be dictated by Continental designers. Long before the brutal invasion of Europe's capitols by the Nazi juggernaut, the United States had gained a firm grasp on the tiara of international style supremacy. Smart New York had supplanted gay Paris as the creative style center of the universe, and Palm Beach, Miami and Hollywood had overshadowed the Riviera and other Continental resort spots as the parade grounds for the world's latest in chic personal appointments—America's smart set have long set the pace of fashion for the hitherto gay capitols of distant lands.

According to no less authority than Charles J. Oppenheim, Jr., internationally known as the president and founder of Jay Thorpe, Inc., of New York, Palm Beach and Miami, American fashion designs have outsold European creations by a ratio of three to one during the last ten years. The noted leader in the world of fashion, in stressing the significance of this very revealing style statistic, furnishes the answer to the oft-expressed doubts by superficial and uninformed observers, anent the ability of the United States to retain the fashion supremacy it has now openly taken over from Paris during the past eventful year.

Mr. Oppenheim, who recently celebrated his twentieth anniversary at the helm of Jay Thorpe, Inc., world renowned fashion center at 24 West 57th Street in New York, said recently:

"Many of the most important styles of the past decade have emanated from the United States, with American sport clothes and hosiery acknowledged as incomparable by the world's stylists.

"The dominant factors influencing fashion trends in the last twenty years have been the greater speed and streamlining of methods of travel—women's increased activity in social and business fields and the fair sex's active participation in every type of sport.

"Contrast this eminently sound fashion policy with woman's former bondage to fashion's dictates; dictates generated by the old world standards and fashion traditions—Twenty years ago a woman would wear a large hat, trimmed with flowers and possibly weighted down with imitations of various fruits, when she went travelling. At the termination of her journey, beautiful and becoming though it may have been at the outset, was a shapeless wreck, and her nerves and temper considerably frayed from her vain efforts to protect her lovely headgear.

"Shining examples of yesteryear's callous indifference to the fair sex's comfort was the voluminous hat, worn as part of the feminine tennis player's court-costume, and milady's bathing attire included among other items, a corset, corset cover and bloomers.

"Today finds every streamlined innovation affecting our nomadic lives, as we dash hither and yon over this land of amazing progress, matched by equally sensational and precedent shattering creations in fashion designs. When Mrs. and Miss America go "a-travelling" today, they are not only the last word in chic and loveliness, their habiliments are specially designed to insure complete relaxation and enjoyment enroute."

Streamlined planes and trains have become of secondary interest to streamlined fashions. In the early days, the thrill attendant to watching one of America's sleek, graceful transcontinental planes make a perfect three-point landing was sufficient incentive for the gathering fascinated townsmen at the nation's airports, for there was an indefinable glamour engendered by the thought of an overnight flight from far distant cities and a bit of awe at the daring of the first of the air-travellers.

Trained observers say the answer is to be found in the avid curiosity of America's "style-conscious" millions who in the past decade have become aware that tomorrow's styles now originate in the United States and socialites, celebrities will be wearing New York's latest, loveliest sky-liners.

Much of the credit for this aptitude of today's fair sex in assembling a complete and tasteful ensemble must go to such pioneers as Mr. Oppenheim, famous head of Jay Thorpe, Inc., who introduced the custom of carrying accessories, as well as clothes and millinery at their fashionable shop on 57th street, in 1920, thus enabling a woman to buy her complete ensemble under one roof.

Another innovation is found today in the attention paid to the youthful viewpoint, in style designing. Instead of catering exclusively to the matron as was the case fifteen years ago, stylists and leading style centers such as Jay Thorpe, Inc., now feature debutante creations and debutante departments, at prices that range from the nominal to the higher brackets.

On Sunny Palm Beach Sands

SINCE its opening early in the season, the Bath and Tennis Club has been a center of informal gatherings for luncheons in the resort. The club is one of the most beautiful spots in Florida, and affords its members and their guests every possible facility for complete enjoyment of the sun, salt water and sand. The patio with its tropical atmosphere and the dining room with its slightly more formal setting have been the scene of numerous luncheons since the Club's opening the first of December.

Among the interesting luncheons held at the Club recently, were those given by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Howes and their daughter and guest for the holidays, Miss Mary Howes and Mr. Prescott Pervere. Mrs. James H. Kennedy frequently entertains friends at luncheons. Mrs. Dorsey Cullen, and her houseguests during the holidays; Mrs. Theron Strong, General Patton C. March and Mr. Theodore Strong were often the center of luncheon groups. The Joseph P. Kennedy children, Kathleen, Eunice, Patricia, Rosemary, Joseph P., Jr., John and Robert were noted dining at the Club with the younger prep school and college set. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hadden have entertained at several of the larger luncheons.

Frequently being hosts at luncheons and being entertained are, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mr. J. H. R. Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson Fenton, Mr. George Angue Dobyne, Mr. and Mrs. John Holiday Perry and their son, Farwell W. Perry; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney, Mr. Harvey Ladew, Lady Patricia Latham, Dr. and Mrs. Mathew T. Mellon, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gring, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. McQuesten, Prince and Princess Odescalchi, Mrs. Catherine M. Legget, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brodhead Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hasler, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Chandler, Mr. Frank Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skillman, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mrs. Gilbert Drake, Mrs. Sam Taylor and Mrs. John Holman.

Although the season is very young many members of the Breakers Cabana Club are daily visitors to the beach and pool. A number of cabana residents have opened their cabanas and are noted enjoying the sunshine and chatting with friends during the popular bathing hours.

Members of the hotel and cottage colony who will have cabanas this season include: Col. Edward R. Bradley, Mr. John Hartford, Mr. L. D. Rockwell, Miss M. G. Haines, Mr. T. J. Falvey, Mr. Arthur G. Hoffman, Mr. Thomas Shaw, Mr. A. P. Giannini, Mr. Henry Candler, Mrs. George C. Shevlin, Mr. Eben H. Ellison, Mrs. Alfred M. Low, Mr. Harry Prufrock, Mr. L. A. Valier, Mr. Walter Thomson, Mr. E. B. Nigleman, Mr. R. C. Crowley, Mr. Ray F. Smith, Mr. A. C. Pieper, Mr. Roy M. Lotspeich, Mrs. J. P. Raymond, Mr. R. L. Parish, Mrs. Dean Osborne, Mrs. L. C. Hermann.

Also, Mr. Harry Skillman, Mr. W. E. Weiss, Mr. Clarence W. Sills, Mrs. W. F. Peters, Mr. Walter Hopkins, Dr. Frank Leahy, Mr. Robert Bradley, Mr. C. L. Ibsen, Mr. C. A. Lilley, Col. R. H. Morse, Mr. Ray Huber, Major R. H. Lee, Mrs. Ben Hopkins, Mr. Owen R. Skelton, Mr. G. K. Morgan, Mr. W. A. Daley, Mr. Alfred Feltman, Mr. John E. Judson, Mrs. F. H. Maidment, Mr. Scarborough, Mrs. Margaret Hovey, Mr. Arnold W. Chapin, Mr. Thomas Mallory, Mr. William Pope, Mr. Joseph Bannon, Mr. Louis Hoff, Mrs. W. Pat Fischer, Mrs. Thomas Prenn, Mrs. James Reeves, Mrs.

J. W. Carnahan, Mrs. R. J. Wean, Mr. Leo Ehrhart, Mr. John Abeel, Mr. F. A. Miller, Mr. Oscar Huffman, Mr. John Coleman, Mrs. Henry Morgan Tilford, Mr. John E. Gefaell, Mr. Cook, Mr. Arthur Lipper, Mr. Karl Dodge, Mrs. Thomas Leeming.

The Seaspray Beach Club under the management of Mr. Mohler McVey has long been a favorite pleasure spot for sun-seeking resorters, Tennis courts, pool, surf and dining facilities are but a few features offered to patrons of the Club. The beach, with its colorful array of umbrellas and wind-breakers is one of Seaspray's most popular spots. Among the members and their guests noted recently on the sands and enjoying luncheon on the terrace or in the dining room were: Mr. and Mrs. Bache Whitlock, Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Marquis and Marquesa de Cuevas, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Balentine, Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Barbour, Colonel and Mrs. James R. Branch, Mr. Robert F. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos, Mrs. Milton Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Graf, Mrs. Fontaine Le Maistre, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril J. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Sackett, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Tillman, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. VanVoorhees, Mrs. Woolworth Donahue and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wagner.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Bell, Jr., Mrs. N. S. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Dunstine, Mrs. H. A. Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Waterman, Mrs. Blanche Woodall, Mrs. Harold Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. J. # Palm Beach Sports Season

Forming a picturesque "Nineteenth Hole," is the charming veranda of the Everglades Golf Club where golfers hold their post-mortems while sipping their favorite cocktail.

THIS WEEK finds golfing activity off to a fine start with tournament play under way at both the Palm Beach Golf club and the Everglades course.

Leading amateur golfers of this section are taking part in match play following the medal round yesterday of the 34th Annual Lake Worth tourney over the famed Poinciana course.

At the exclusive Everglades course, members and guests are playing the Francis E. Shaughnessy Memorial Cup competition, 18-holes handicap for both men and women.

A three-year program of revolutionary changes which have been patiently waited for by veteran golfers has finally culminated in transforming the historic Poinciana course of the Palm Beach Golf club into one of the finest links layouts to be encountered in the entire South.

Under the wizardry of that genius of golfing architecture, Donald Ross, of Pinehurst supplemented by the masterful execution of Frank Swanson, chief engineer of the Florida East Coast Hotel Company, the three-year program has been completed resulting in the rebuilding of the entire 18 holes.

For two seasons, the regular club members of the famous Old Guard society have applauded the revision and improvement of greens and fairways, but this season's work eclipses all previous efforts and has brought praise from men who have played the course for years.

Five out of the first nine holes have been rebuilt, comprising all new greens, the moving of traps to more sporty locations and creating a new practice field that leaves nothing to be desired.

Improvements include the widening of the first fairway, with more cocoanut trees being planted at the edge of the green blocking approach from the ninth fairway. The new green on the short second has been expertly trapped and the green itself is a velvety carpet of undulating terrain. On the ninth hole, the green has been moved toward the west and enlarged.

The third and fourth holes have undergone major changes, with a dog-leg formed on the third by moving the tee southward and the fairway northward to what was the practice field formerly. The initial water hazard on the course partially guards the green bringing the dream of many of the regular golfers into reality at last.

Angling of the fourth fairway in an ESE direction toward the approximate location of the old fourth green leaves the southwest corner of the course open for practice chipping, while the former fourth fairway is used as a practice field. Field for the use of instructors is now located on the site of the Poinciana Hotel, west of the 16th and 18th greens.

Minor changes have been made during the summer on holes east of the County Road, including the moving of the formerly raised tee on the 14th hole to the west side of the cottage roadway. This comprises the only radical change on the eastern part of the layout, which were improved during the preceding two years. Yardage on the 18-hole course which extends from the Atlantic Ocean to within a short distance of Lake Worth now measures 6,008 yards, making it only five yards shorter in spite of all the shifting.

Ideal growing conditions this summer have aided Mr. Swanson in preparing the course so that it is in the finest shape ever, both as to fairways and greens offering excellent play for the casual golfer or for the serious tournament player.

Full schedule of tourney play course is as follows:

Dec. 16-20—Old Guard Invitation Best Ball.

Jan. 7-10—Old Guard Handicap Tournament.

Jan. 13-17—Lake Worth Tournament.

Jan. 28-31—Old Guard Handicap Foursome Tournament.

Feb. 17-21—South Florida Championship.

Feb. 25-28—Old Guard Championship — 36 Holes Medal Play Handicap.

Mar. 3-7—Men's Championship of Palm Beach.

Mar. 11-14—Old Guard Best Ball Handicap Tournament.

Mar. 18-19—Old Guard Seniors—18 Holes Medal Play.

Mar. 22—Old Guard Pater Filius—18 Holes Medal Play Handicap.

Mar. 24-28—Country Club Invitation Tournament.

April 1-4—Old Guard Handicap Tournament.

Kicker, club championships and ringer tourneys for both men and women are already under way at the famed Everglades club to be continued until the latter part of March to be judged on the best medal scores.

Sports activity at the exclusive course has kept pace with the social doings, with the greens a velvety sheen and the fairways showing the effect of abundant rainfall and proper drainage.

Mr. Clinton S. Dow as chairman of the golf committee has been assisted in securing the many improvements on the course through the cooperation of Mr. Hugh Dillman, club president, and through the excellent work of the other members of the committee, Messrs. G. Kenneth Morgan, William R. Huntley and Elmer Rich.

Full schedule of golf events is as follows:

Dec. 16, 23, and 30: Kickers Handicap Ball Sweepstakes 9 Holes Medal Play vs. Par, Flag and Medal Play, men and women.

Jan. 1st to March 31st: Club championships for both men and women. Best five 18-hole medal scores handed in. Prizes for best gross and best net scores with full Club Handicap allowance. Prizes for this event donated by Mrs. B. S. Cunningham, Mrs. V. Vilas Norton, Mrs. H. A. Bedford and others.

Feb. 24th to 28th: Mixed Foursomes. (Members only). Eighteen holes match play. Enter by teams. Three-fourths of both players handicaps to be not less than 15. Eighteen holes qualifying round. Entry fee, $5.00 per team.

March 4 and 5: Governors Cup. Eighteen holes vs. par under handicap.

March 10th to 14th: Men's Two-Ball Foursomes. Eighteen holes match play. Enter by teams. Three-fourths of both players handicaps to be not less than 11 in the aggregate. Eighteen holes qualifying round. Entry fee $5.00 per team.

In addition to the above, there will be various "impromptu" golf events which will be announced on the Club Bulletin Boards.

No player may win more than one prize in any one competition.

Members of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers are being congratulated on the improvements made to their club quarters located on the second floor of the Palm Beach Golf club.

With John Volk as supervising architect, the locker room has been extended clear through the north lounge, with a smaller lounge in the northeast corner being converted into a post-mortem room where players might replay the game.

The large room on the east side has been completely redecorated and is being used as usual for the regular afternoon bridge games and tournaments which are played annually.

The complete layout is a vast improvement over the previous arrangement and is able to accommodate both golfers and bridge players with a greater degree of comfort than ever before.

Pleasure Paths of Palm Beach

SITUATED in the center of the pleasure paths of Palm Beach, the world-famous Patio, as of yore, is playing host to noted socialites of the winter colony and to internationally known personages who come here each season.

Possessing an air of distinctive charm that has always attracted discriminating patrons, The Patio this season, has installed its sliding glass roof that brings an inside room to the guests instead of the guests having to move to an inside room, when errant rain showers or cool breezes wander down this way.

The inside dining room has been transferred into a delightful lounge with its modernistic cocktail bar and comfortable chairs offering a perfect setting for daily backgammon play and instruction.

The gala Patio opening proved one of the stellar events of the social season with Val Ernie and his society orchestra playing for a record crowd of well known resorters.

Among prominent resorters who had gay parties were Mrs. Wanamaker Munn, who had among her guests Miss Mary Munn, Miss Fernanda Munn, Mr. Gurnee Munn, Jr., Mr. Clemente Ballin and Mr. Rodman de Heeren.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos were observed with Mr. and Mrs. D. Dulany Hunter and at a nearby table were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merritt with their guests, Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, Mr. William Ross Howard, III, and the Merritt's house guests, Mrs. Mary Fisher and Mr. Frederick C. Havemeyer and Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil.

Miss Rosemary Kennedy had a delightful party for the younger set, including Miss Kathleen Kennedy, Miss Eunice Kennedy, Miss Charlotte McDonnell, Mr. Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., and John Kennedy, being joined later by Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Smith were hosts at a charming birthday party for Mr. Howard Clements, being recipients of a special cake in honor of the occasion, and a Happy Birthday greeting from Val and the orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fuller were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Casse of New York City, who celebrated their wedding anniversary and were accorded a special musical greeting.

MRS. HARRISON WILLIAMS
Recently judged the world's best dressed woman, laughs at a friend's sally at The Patio on the opening night.

Others in the distinguished group which remained until the wee hours, were, Mr. Milton Holden, Mrs. Ottavio Prochet, Mrs. Diana Guest.

Mr. Roosevelt, seated just a table away from Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy greeted them and members of the family warmly.

Miss Christine Cromwell, beautiful debutante daughter of Mr. James H. R. Cromwell and Mrs. Timothy Godde, arrived with Mr. John H. Perry, Jr., son of the well-known publisher. Other members of the fashionable young group were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Macy, Jr., and Mr. Dudley Miller.

The Patio's New Year's Eve gala proved the greatest ever held, with scores coming for supper dancing following private and club dinners, and with the world and his wife dropping in until the day dawned.

One of the mosts interesting parties of the late evening was that consisting of Count Renee de Chambrun, the Hon. Mrs. Aileen Plunkett, Major and Mrs. Eric Loder, Mr. Charles Munn, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Mr. Charles Munn, Jr., Miss Mary Munn and Mrs. A. C. Critchley.

Mr. and Mrs. Aksel Wichfeld were observed at a dance floor table and nearby were Mr. James H. R. Cromwell and Mrs. Lionel Atwill with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Robert observed on the dance floor.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt were noted with Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rich and Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Windsor were supper guests.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Dulany Hunter were also present with Mrs. Woolworth Donahue and Capt. Alastair Mackintosh and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos.

Mrs. Joseph F. Moran and Mr. William Ross Howard, 3rd, occupied a dance floor table with Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McNeil and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merritt.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott were hosts to the Marquis and Marquise La Greca, Mrs. Henry Joachim, Mr. Stuart Borchard, Mrs. Gertrude Smitton, Miss Lee Rogers, Mr. Laurence Griswold.

Mrs. Eve Bickford entertained for Mr. Russell Thaw, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pope, Mr. Robert Blake and Mrs. Jennie Kissam.

Others observed dining and dancing and as dinner and supper hosts were M. Leon Cotnareanu of Whitehall, Mr. and Mrs. David Mabee, Mr. and Mrs. George McClellen, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Crowley, Breakers guests, who had parties, Major Rudolph Lee and Mrs. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goodwillie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Witman entertained a dinner party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. George Ramussen, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Payne Whitmore.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Volk were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Halladay and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Chapin.

Other members of the resort colony observed enjoying the evening were Mr. Robert Wakeman, Mr. H. Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodman, Mr. Elliott Bishop, Mr. David G. Legget, Mr. C. W. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marks, Mr. Charles Bedford, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cleary, Mrs. Samuel Cole, Mr. and Mrs. George Souther, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rauh, Mrs. Max Horowitz, Mr. Jesse Sharpe, Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks, Mr. B. L. Taylor, Mr. Allen Watkins, Capt. E. Signorini, Mr. C. B. Hews, Dr. Bullard, Mr. W. H. Took,

Recapturing the charm of old France is the noted Chambord restaurant which opened early this season and has been the scene of many interesting luncheon and dinner parties given by the smart winter colony. The formal opening of the Chambord is today, when the attractive dining room will be thronged with many parties.

Cuisine, made famous by the French masters is complimented by wines of aristocratic pedigrees at this rendezvous of the gourmet, and genial Alex Hounie is on hand to welcome old and new patrons. An innovation which has charmed the distinguished clientele of the noted restaurant is the music of Ramon Littee's ensemble, whose soft and melodic interpretations are appropriately rendered during the dinner hour.

Cocktail time at the Chambord finds scores of resorters gathered in the lounge each day. Ramon Littee's ensemble plays at this time also. During sunny Palm Beach days the Patio Vert is a lovely setting for luncheon parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guest recently entertained at a dinner at the Chambord, as did Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martinez de las Rivas. Among the many others who have given dinners at this popular restaurant this season are Mrs. Wanamaker Munn, Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks, Mrs. Elisha Dyer Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Lapham, Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott, Mrs. Ector O. Munn, the Count de L'Esclabey, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth C. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., Mrs. Ethel M. Broadwater, Mrs. Morgan W. Daboll, Miss Joanna Fortune, Mr. and Mrs. Meigs Frost, Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson Fenton, Col. and Mrs. Harold A. Braman, Mr. and Mrs. George McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. T. Preston Davis, Mr. Fred Stone, Mr. David Legget, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. David Mabee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Byron DeWitt Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos, Mr. Reginald Boardman, Jr.

Mrs. Wendell Willkie has lunched several times with Mrs. Samuel F. Pryor at the noted French restaurant. Mr. and Mrs. J. Riddell West have entertained at luncheon there as have Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Mrs. W. L. Gilbert, Mrs. Henry McSweeney, Mrs. William Ferguson, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil H. Sawyer.

Exhibition of Chinese Jade Carvings

VERY FEW books have been written on Jade, in point of fact, Mr. Stanley Charles Nott the International Authority on Jade is the only Author to have compiled more than two separate treatises upon the intriguing and involved religious mysticism which Jade has evoked in the mind and daily life of the Chinese from the earliest ages and it is no doubt due partly to this that he has become to be regarded as the principal Western authority on the subject. The catalogue of the exhibition of Rare Chinese Jade Carvings which are now assembled in the House of Jade, on North County Road, is compiled in the familiar style which he has for the past ten years adopted for such work, and it is interesting to note that the present volume is his twenty-third Catalogue of Jade exhibitions.

The scarcity of books on Chinese Jade is all the more disappointing because we are well aware of the extraordinary place which the stone has taken throughout the entire history of Chinese culture; and it must be considered as significant that the Royal Academy Exhibition in London in 1936, which inspired a great body of literature in almost all fields of Chinese art, produced but one book on Jade, "Chinese Jade Throughout the Ages," by Mr. Nott. Since that book, which became the standard work on the subject four more large volumes on this subject have come from that author's pen, and at the present time he is engaged in a revision of his earliest scholastic achievement. It is refreshing therefore to find that the present book which describes the various Jade Carvings in The House of Jade Exhibition is finding favour among Palm Beach Art enthusiasts, who, according to the report of the Treasurer of The House of Jade Charity Committee, Mr. Bert C. Teed, have contributed an average of sixty dollars per volume for the book in support of the American Red Cross and British war relief funds for which the production has been contributed.

That Jade should have been chosen as the medium through which to appeal for these two deserving causes seems opportune, especially as the veneration and esteem of the Chinese for this their national religious material is well known and it would seem impossible to improve upon the expression of the Chinese veneration of this material than to quote from their own immortal classic, "The Li Ki":

"Benevolence lies in its gleaming surface
Knowledge in its luminous quality,

Uprightness in its unyieldingness,
Power in its harmlessness,
Purity of soul in its rarity and spotlessness,
Eternity in its durability,
Moral leading in the fact that it goes from hand to hand without being sullied."

And as a token of the present day one might also wish that all diplomats were well versed in Chinese Classical writings for in the "She King" (Book of Poetry), one reads:

"Be cautious of what you say;
Be reasonably careful of your outward demeanour;
In all things be mild and correct.

A flaw in a piece of white jade
may be ground away;
But for a flaw in speech nothing
can be done."

Whilst a Chinese proverb reads:

"If jade is not polished it cannot be made worth anything.

"If a man does not suffer trials he cannot be perfected."

Thus in the age-old philosophy of China we see morals for the present day, and in visiting the present superb exhibition of Chinese Jade one is rewarded not only in viewing the finest collection of its kind ever staged in the history of Art, and in the delightful sensation of temporarily being alone in a wonderful museum outside of the turmoil of the present difficulties surrounding the face of the world, but also of a deeper personal satisfaction, that of assisting others whilst imbuing into one's soul the inferences effused by these highest attainments in Art of a lost world and peoples. Undoubtedly during the current season this superb Exhibition will be visited by all lovers of Art, not only locally, but also quite possibly from many miles away. A deserving show for a deserving cause, is a simple tribute to this unique Exhibition, which was opened by Mayor James M. Owens, Jr. (and the Charity Committee), at 4 p. m. on the afternoon of January 9th. Following the ceremony, tea and cocktails were served in the Chambord to invited guests of The House of Jade Charity Committee. Hostesses in charge of this terminating function following the Official opening of the Exhibition were Marquise La Greca, Mrs. Gertrude Smitton, Mrs. Mary K. Gardiner, Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott, and Mrs. Henry Joachim. A representative gathering of Palm Beach society and art connoisseurs was noted.

Ormond Beach

A COMPREHENSIVE program of social and sports activities will be sponsored at Ormond Beach, one of Florida's oldest winter resorts, for the pleasure of the many visitors expected for the 1941 season. This resort has retained much of its traditional charm, but at the same time has kept pace with modern times.

Ormond Beach is situated on a narrow strip of land between the Atlantic Ocean and the Halifax River and enjoys a semi-tropical climate. One of nature's finest gifts to the Halifax Country is the twenty miles of beach, where the first automobile speed trials were held more than a quarter of a century ago, and which provide much pleasure to those who enjoy surf bathing.

opened its doors on January 11 for the fifty-fourth season. The hotel, with its wide verandahs and lawns beside the Halifax River, and its bathing pavilion on the ocean, has undergone a number of improvements during the summer.

Mr. Sheridan W. Scott, manager, is planning many interesting diversions and novel entertainments for his guests. There will be weekly bridge parties, teas, Champagne hours, dinner dances and other social functions. Putting matches will be held each week on an attractive putting course on the East lawn.

The stable again has a fine string of saddle horses to offer those interested in this sport. Besides horseback riding, the sports program will include golf, tennis, fishing, archery and lawn bowling.

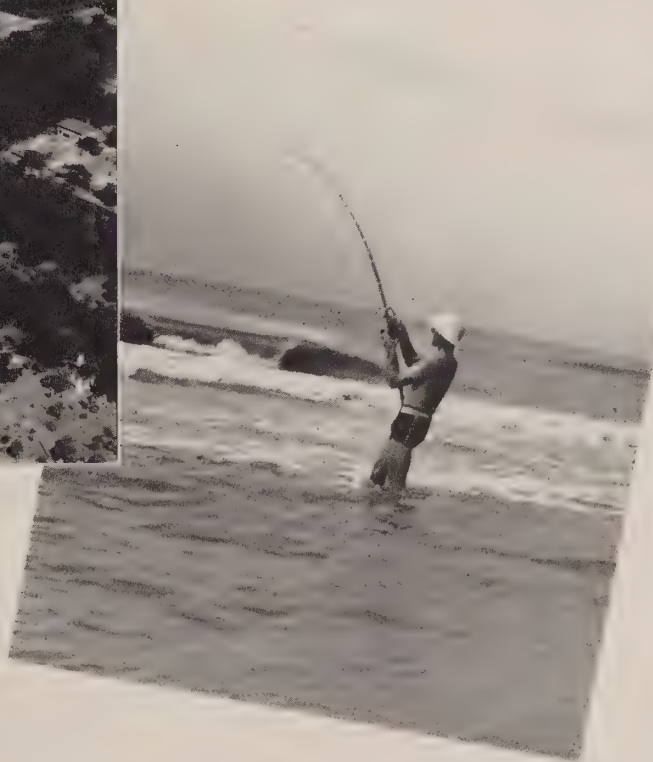

The Ormond Beach golf course opened for the season on December 20 with James K. Thomson as professional. The inaugural tournament, an 18-hole Medal Play Handicap, was contested on Christmas Day.

The outstanding golf event of the season will be the women's South Atlantic Championship, one of the major Florida tournaments, which will be held February 25 to March 1. Miss Elizabeth Hicks, of Long Beach, Cal., is the present titleholder, having defeated Miss Betty Jameson, of San Antonio, Texas, the 1939 and 1940 national champion, 3 and 2 in the finals. Miss Hicks has already forwarded her entry for the 1941 event.

The clay tennis courts on the hotel grounds will be ready for play when the hotel opens and will again be under the supervision of James Burns, Sr., of Cedarhurst, Long Island.

SONNY (BOWEN) TUFTS

Tenor, Socialite and former Yale crew star, opened the season in the Jardin Royal. Sonny is the grandson of the founder of the Tufts college, Boston.

NICKI RAYMOND

Versatile orchestra leader and violinist, who has played at a number of the better bistros, opened at Whitehall, Saturday, for the season.

Whitehall Opens for the Season

IN A dazzling decorative setting of rose and silver, "Gala Performance," the first of the series of Saturday evening dinner-dances, was held in the star-spangled outdoor patio, the Jardin Royal at Whitehall. The hotel guests and the cottage colony were augmented by the continental set, more representative this season than ever before in Palm Beach.

Interspersing his dance program with rhumbas, congas and sambas, Nicki Raymond made a personal triumph with his pleasing personality and suave rhythms. Already known to New Yorkers in Palm Beach, "Sonny" (Bowen C.) Tufts, romantic tenor, six feet two, blonde and handsome, has a rich, fullsome voice adequately displayed in several semi-classical selections. Manor and Mignon, youthful and stunning ballroom dancers, presented their poetic rhythmic routines to ringing applause. The Brazilian Samba, the latest metropolitan dance craze, was introduced by Jorn Winner of the Arthur Murray Studio at Whitehall with his partner, Miss Ann Chadwick.

Decorative blue lighting was reflected on the pink flowers and silver kid table covers and each lady's place was marked by souvenir Ballerina Bottles of Helena Rubinstein's new scent, "Gala Performance."

Next Saturday's (Jan. 18) gala night is called "Fete des Ballons Bleus" centering around the theme "Blue Danube Dreams." On Jan. 25, "Baile Boa Bola," the Samba Soiree and Brazilian Gala, will be presented, sponsored by His Excellency, Dr. Armando Vidal, Commissioner Gen. of Brazil.

The "Bittersweet Ball" will be held Saturday, Feb. 7, featuring the dance routines from "Bittersweet," and starring Renee and Root, tops in the terpsichorean world.

"Louisiana Hayride," a barn dance, the background a jalousied farm-house in a grove of live-oaks hung with Spanish Moss, is planned for later in the season. Orange and yellow drapes and flame-colored cellophane balloons will furnish the carnival atmosphere.

At the "Fiesta Pan-Americana," Nicki Raymond's orchestra, dressed as gauchos will play the music from "Panama Hattie" in a setting reminiscent of a ranch in South America, with "Sonny" Tufts singing "Gacho Serenade" and tango numbers popular in Latin countries.

Other festive occasions which will take place in the famed Jardin Royal at Whitehall are: "Shanghai Serenade" in a decorative Chinese setting, with "Shanghai" and "Lotus d'Or" perfumes as favors; "Rhumbacardi Revel," and all-Cuban fiesta; "Chez les Tzigane," a gypsy rendezvous; "The Orchid Ball," the garden simulating an orchid jungle; "Bal des Ballons Bleus," the decor to include hundreds of illuminated and silver-frosted blue balloons; the "Pavillon de Paganinni," a fete galante, with arias from the operetta "Paganinni," sung by Christina Carroll, nineteen-year-old opera star from the Royal Hungarian Opera, Budapest; "The Promenade des Pompadours" (Bal de Tete), featuring an Antoine beauty show with prizes for the most interesting head-dress; the "Bittersweet Ball," with the music from "Bittersweet" sung by Christina Carroll and danced by Manor and Mignon; and the "Shipwreck Party," in an intriguing setting of wrecked boats, fish-nets, lanterns and bonfires.

Miami Beach

MEMORIES of other days were recalled to many resorters in Miami Beach when the first daily tea dance in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza took place last week. It has been several years now since the dances took place each afternoon, and the tradition was revived with a gala celebration.

Dancing at the tea hour under the first stars of early evening is a glamorous custom from which Palm Beach has never deviated, and reviving the tradition at the Roney Plaza was welcomed by those who made the gardens a daily rendezvous in days past.

Among those invited to the dance on the occasion of the opening were Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank Katzentine, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred I. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Baya, Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Bellenger, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Auxier, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Arrant, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Armstrong, Dr. and Mrs. Bowman F. Ashe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Baruch, Jr., Mrs. John F. Barnhill, Mrs. Frank J. Bruen, Dr. and Mrs. Horace L. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Daino, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mark and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Eaton.

Tennis enthusiasts are looking forward to the Second Annual Roney Plaza Invitational Tennis Tournament, which will be played here, February 24. Top flight players in the amateur field will be invited to participate in what is fast becoming one of the outstanding tournaments of the winter schedule.

During February also will be the fourteenth annual Roney Plaza Junior Sailing regatta which attracts young "salts" from the resort colony. There will be several social events in connection with the affair, the dates of which will be announced later.

Among the members of the New York colony now wintering at the Roney Plaza are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Wragge of Mamaroneck; Miss Claire Piccard, Mr. and Mrs. John Castella, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brownstone, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. George Graham and Miss Patricia Lane.

The brilliant American portrait painter, John Doctoroff, is having a one-man exhibition of sixteen of his most famous canvases in the lounge of the Roney Plaza. The exhibit, which opened last week, will continue indefinitely.

A cozy nook on the spacious terraces of the Roney Plaza Hotel at Miami Beach, where many of the social colony in this resort congregate for an afternoon of backgammon or chatting over long cool drinks within the sound and sight of the sea.

Although this is the first time Doctoroff's works have been shown in Miami Beach, his exhibits in other leading cities of the country have been widely acclaimed for their vitality and their brilliant treatment of character.

The artist declared that in his opinion there is a new and deeper feeling of art appreciation. In his studio at the Roney Plaza, Doctoroff said: "I seem to sense this new feeling of appreciation. For a time it was sidetracked because of the world's interest in the purely material things, but now that we feel a real concern for the fate of the art treasures of the world, we become aware of their values."

One of the most distinguishing characteristics of the artist's paintings is the life-like quality that makes the canvas almost a breathing thing. It has been said of Doctoroff that he comes nearer to being America's "court painter" than any other artist.

Of more than medium height and slender build, Doctoroff is himself a distinguished figure. His trim mustache and silvery gray hair lend charm to his modest mein, which belies the brilliant career of the artist. His love and understanding of people are quickly perceived and it is his ability to capture his subjects "off guard" in moments of "arrested action" that makes his portraits breathe with a vibrancy seldom seen except in the work of the truly great.

New Efficiency Apartments

MR. WILLIAM B. JARVIS, who has long been a member of the cottage colony, has just completed a series of apartments at the corner of Hibiscus and Worth Avenues. The entrance is at 420 Hibiscus Avenue. Mrs. M. E. Collins is in charge of the apartments which are now ready for occupancy. The interiors were decorated by Mrs. Jarvis and her daughter, Mrs. Evans Pew, and the rooms have a warmth and friendliness which bespeak the personal interest. There are three two-room apartments and nine of the one-room efficiency type.

The large living rooms in the two-room apartments have double windows, all of which are complete with Venetian blinds. The walls are in soft tones of grey, which, in some instances, has been used for the drapes. In other rooms, the drapes are contrasting tones of green, blue or rose. The predominating color is always used throughout the apartments.

The living room furniture is modern, including the desks, bamboo dining tables, and conveniently placed small tables which are scattered about the rooms. There is a gas heater in every living room. A studio couch with innerspring mattress, installed in the living room, can be used for guests. There is also a large closet off the living room for the use of the guests.

The bedrooms of the two-room apartments are beautifully furnished, also in modern, and include French twin beds. Mirrored doors enclose the bedrooms. The rooms are large, well lighted and are in perfect color harmony. There is also a gas heater in every bedroom.

The kitchen units, which have inlaid linoleum floors, have large Venetian blinds hung from the ceiling, so the kitchen can be completely hidden from sight. But they are so attractive, any tenant would be glad to allow his guests to have a peek. Refrigeration, gas range, broiler and oven and a complete silver and china service for six, are a few of the features of every kitchen unit. The units, which cover an amazingly small amount of space, are most efficient as well as being attractive.

Each bathroom is a perfect picture with its harmonizing colors. Some are in grey and rose, others in blue and white, and one, especially lovely, is in blue and peach. The colors are warm and alive and catch the sun through the double windows which are a feature of the bathrooms. Tiled walls surround the tubs, with a shower over each tub. Heaters are installed in each bathroom.

One of the outstanding features of every apartment is the huge closets with built-in shelves, lights and loads of space for hanging garments. Some of them also feature built-in chests.

In one-room apartments, twin studio couches are placed in the living rooms. Every couch has an innerspring mattress. They also afford a dressing room, with attractive dressing tables, gay little lamp, built-in chests, and huge closets with mirrored sliding doors. The color scheme in the dressing rooms harmonize, in every instance, with the rest of the apartment. In the apartments where grey, rose and blue have predominated, the dressing room is in grey and rose. The colors are soft and restful and never strike a discordant note.

The bath connects with the dressing rooms and is as attractive and complete as those in the two-room apartments. Tiled walls, inlaid linoleum, gay shower curtains and Venetian blinded windows, all add to the attractiveness of the baths.

The walls are done in fresh colors with contrasting trim. The Venetian blinds at the windows are also taped in the appropriate harmonizing shades, making the rooms a truly lovely picture with the sun pouring in the windows. It is these little things that make the Jarvis Apartments an enjoyable home for the colonists who live there.

The kitchen units are identical with those in the two-room apartments. They also have the compact but complete features of refrigeration, range, sink, broiler and service for six which include glassware, china and silver.

The spacious lobby of the Jarvis Apartments is charmingly decorated with wrought iron furniture, painted a delicate shade to match the design in the wallpaper. A variety of palms grace the lobby. One of the most unusual features of the Jarvis Apartments is the large closet beside the entrance to each apartment. It can be used for storing baggage, golf clubs, and all the other odds and ends that usually have to clutter the clothes closets. It is one of the added conveniences which makes the tenant realize how carefully and thoughtfully everything has been planned for his comforts.

The Cattley Guava

Much less widely known than its tropical sister, the subtropical Cattley guava (Psidium cattleianum) has many excellent features which should commend a better acquaintance with it on the part of garden lovers. A native of Brazil, it was early carried by Portuguese ships to southern China, and thence came to Florida via England. For this reason one sometimes finds it listed as the Chinese guava. Some people know it also as the Strawberry guava, because of the color of the fruit of one variety.

The Cattley guava is an evergreen shrub or small tree which rarely reaches the height of 20 feet. The glossy, leathery, dark green leaves are much like those of the popular Wax Privet, but on a slightly smaller scale. The young foliage is often bronze or reddish, as is so often the case in the Myrtle family to which this belongs. Plants are easily grown from seed, which germinates readily although it may be stored for months, but are somewhat slow in growth. Thus it may be three or four years from seed before plants are large enough to bear fruit or to make much of a showing as a hedge.

In southern and central Florida, the Cattley succeeds excellently, as it is little injured by temperatures above 27 degrees F. In the Gainesville-Jacksonville area, the plants are likely to suffer a little injury to the tip growth in the coldest part of winter, but is killed to the ground only in exceptionally cold winters when temperatures drop to 20 degrees F. After such injury the plants sprout back quickly and in a few months present an attractive appearance again.

The plants do not give satisfaction as a formally pruned hedge, but make a very attractive informal hedge or border. When cut back to near the ground every few years, the hedge becomes a low, thick one. Insect and disease pests are almost negligible, and even with little care the plants grow and fruit well.

There are two forms, the Red and the Yellow, distinguished chiefly by the color of the skin of the fruit and coming true from seed, says H. S. Wolfe, of the University of Florida. The yellow variety is somewhat sweeter and juicier than the red one, but in the absence of fruit the two cannot be distinguished.

Scalamandre Fabrics of Today are the Heirlooms of Tomorrow

SCALAMANDRE fabrics have been repeatedly chosen by fine arts museums all over America for exhibition as examples of the weaving art in its finest form.

In addition, wherever correctness and authenticity in period decoration has been of prime importance, such as in the restoration of Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Scalamandre fabrics have been most frequently designated.

These facts are particularly gratifying since Scalamandre fabrics are produced, not for display purposes or as beautiful but impractical "show" pieces, but primarily for use in the home, as draperies, upholstery or trimmings. It is their purity and excellence in design, the high quality of the materials used and the superb craftsmanship of our weavers which is responsible for their selection as today's outstanding decorative fabrics.

To those discriminating persons who have insisted upon the use of Scalamandre fabrics in the decoration of their homes, it is a source of pride to realize that the covering of a chair, or the draperies at a window, are not only of unrivalled beauty and quality, but are produced by a weaver who has been honored by fine arts authorities nationally for individuality and artistic excellence.

And just as you value the old tapestry panel or the fine bit of mellowed old brocade which has been a treasured possession of your family for generations past, so will future generations take pride in your Scalamandre fabric of today . . . the heirlooms of tomorrow.

The always-refreshing
BACARDI
COCKTAIL

It's tart...it's smart...the incomparable Bacardi Cocktail...always correct...and always welcome...at every season...and for every occasion. Be sure to make it correctly:

The Famous Recipe in Rhyme:
A LITTLE SOUR,
(Juice of half a lime)
A LITTLE SWEET,
(1/2 teaspoonful of sugar)
THE TROPIC SUN,
(A jigger of BACARDI RUM)
(White or Silver Label)
WITHOUT THE HEAT!
(Ice and shake well)

When grenadine is used instead of sugar, it's a Bacardi Grenadine Cocktail, and it comes out pink!

CAUTION: When you order a BACARDI Cocktail remember that it MUST be made with BACARDI RUM. (N. Y. Supreme Court, April 28, 1936)

Use BACARDI White Label, from Cuba, world's finest rum... or BACARDI Silver Label, Puerto Rico's finest, at a popular price.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE, WORTH KNOWING!

The Sun never sets on

It gives you a deep sense of satisfaction when you order a drink "made with Gilbey's Gin" to realize that at the very same minute other men who know fine liquors are sitting at far-away windows with that same familiar Gilbey's bottle beside them. For nearly a century now, the sun has never set on Gilbey's Gin . . . because millions of men have found, as you will, too, that Gilbey's makes a great drink greater!

MR. AND MRS. LINDSLEY LORING

A charming picture of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsley Loring, prominent Boston socialites, who are occupying their Middle Road villa for the season.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

ONE of the most provocative phases of this season's Palm Beach panorama in the Cottage Colony is the utterly unpredictable quotient discerned in the activities of those who comprise the residential roster of the nation's smartest winter resort.

Just when the society commentators and prognosticators are firmly convinced that the cottage colony residents will outshine all previous years in their lavish entertaining at jasmine scented island manses, they find that the colony's hosts and hostesses have temporarily curtailed all but a few intimate gatherings in favor of lying in the sun and enjoying this month's gorgeous, crystal clear days in their picturesque patios and colorful swimming pools.

Having determined that an early season plethora of pretentious parties at the homes of the social leaders marked the culmination of these brilliant gatherings, the society scribe then sends in a story to the effect that this is going to be a quiet season, with the international set setting the style by basking under a palm tree at home and ignoring the social whirl.

As their stories go to press they (the unfortunate commentators) find that the social hiatus was only a brief interlude and that some of the most fascinating large parties ever held in Palm Beach are to be given in the cottage colony, in the near future.

And so it goes in this gay gathering spot for the world's notables. The enterprising soul who sends in an advance story finds that yesterday's social program has been discarded and tomorrow's schedule will be determined by the moods of the mistress of the manse, and the progress of British War Relief activities, for this is the one predictable phase of the 1941 season, that the colony's socialites will bend every effort to aid their British contemporaries across the sea, no matter what the cost in time, effort and money.

Once again the home of Mr. Charles A. Munn is the background for a series of interesting small parties. Seldom is the Munn manse the setting for large parties, but a glimpse at the guest list for the social gatherings at Amado always discloses some of the most distinguished names in the social register.

This season finds Madame Alain d'Rothschild, Mrs. A. C. Critchley and other well known members of the international set enjoying the proverbial Munn hospitality. Mr. Munn's daughter, Miss Mary Munn, who is one of the most active workers in the various civic and humanitarian ventures of the Palm Beach colony, has been hostess to many of her friends since the inception of the season. Mr. Noel Munn and Mr. Charles A. Munn, Jr., are among the house-guests at "Amado."

Like his contemporary, Mr. Joseph A. Widener, Mr. Charles A. Munn is one of the colony's most faithful followers of the ponies at Hialeah. Hardly a week that doesn't find the impeccably clad dean of the Munn family enjoying the performances of his favorite thoroughbreds from his box at the clubhouse of Mr. Widener's world famous racing plant.

Before hostilities abroad made the Continent too hot for visitors, Mr. Munn and his entourage made it a habit to drive over Europe in a glorious jaunt, enjoying the beauties of mountain and stream from their famous deluxe trailer. The Continent's loss seems to be Palm Beach's gain this year, for their home "Amado" like many other villas in the cottage colony, opened early and unless present plans are changed will remain among the cottage colony's gay gathering spots far into the Spring.

With the advent of Miss Louise Iselin, the Harrison Williams' villa continues to be the background for the meetings of many of the international set. Miss Iselin came from Lantana, where she had been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stirling Vanderbilt to join Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams' house-party at their sea-side home. Mrs. d'Elange is another early-season member of the cosmopolitan group at the Williams' villa.

Mr. Jules S. Bache's home "La Colmena" on Barton Avenue is among the social colony's most interesting gathering spots this season. A recent dinner party found many of the resort's socialites enjoying the Bache hospitality. Among the house-guests at "La Colmena" are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Strauss, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Esmond.

Palm Beach's favorite Guests continue to add to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell of Nashville, on Worth Ave. Wearing—watermelon silk print blouse, red shantung slacks, topaz and gold cuff links, gold chain belt, white shoes.

distinctive charm of the cottage colony. The Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest, who is taking an active part in raising funds for Britain this year, is again among the island's most distinguished hostesses, with her brilliant offspring the nucleus for many social gatherings in the resort.

International polo's famed Winston and Raymond Guest are again making history at Phipp's Field, the Palm Beach area's incomparable polo fields. Mr. Winston Guest and his wife have taken a home here and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guest were early season guests of his mother the Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest. Mrs. Guest's lovely daughter, Mrs. Diana Guest is occupying the Lake House on the estate and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunsmure and her two children are at the guest cottage of "Villa Artemis."

"Concha Marina" the ocean-front residence of Mrs. Dodge Sloane, finds its picturesque tropical patios and sea-blue swimming-pool the setting for a series of always different small parties. The famous owner of thoroughbred horses attends many of the races at Hialeah, but has found time to act as hostess to many small and informal gatherings of friends at her beautiful home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., are the principal reason for the popularity of Mrs. Margaret Emerson's home this season, with the younger married set in Palm Beach. Mrs. Topping, who is Mrs. Emerson's daughter, the former Miss Gloria Baker, has a host of friends in the colony. She was America's undisputed number one debutante several years ago.

From British Columbia recently came the three children of Lord and Lady Burghley of Burghley House, Stamford, England, to be the house guests of Mrs. Flynn Stewart at her Ocean Ridge villa in Boynton, and to furnish the Palm Beach colony with its most lovable refugees. The children, the Hon. Davina Cecil, the Hon. Gillian Cecil and the Hon. Angela Cecil, prior to their visit here, have been the guests of their uncle, Lord Martin Cecil and Lady Cecil at their ranch in British Columbia.

Mrs. Alfred G. Kay finds time to participate in much of the social and civic activity in Palm Beach as the gracious hostess in her beautiful sea-side villa, and to lecture on one of her hobbies "Mayans, Past and Present." Her many friends found her recent lecture, at the Society of the Four Arts, which was accompanied by fascinating colored slides, one of the cultural highlights of the season.

A birthday dinner in a novel setting found Mr. and Mrs. E. Steuart Davis hosts to several friends, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Davis' brother, Mr. Cullen W. Bailey. Their unique island home, which is among the colony's showplaces, was the background for a combination marine and land-ho party, with the guests enjoying the silvery, moontipped waters of Lake Worth in a midnight cruise, after dinner and dancing on beautiful Tarpon Island.

Mrs. Wanamaker Munn has joined the social colony's most active party-givers this season. Her winter home on Orange Grove Road continues to be a welcome mecca for many of Palm Beach's smart set.

"Merrills' Landing," the beautiful lake-front estate of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrill, furnished a lovely backdrop for an interesting dinner party recently. Their artistically illuminated sulphur-water pool and the beautifully landscaped gardens were ablaze with sparkling lights for this dinner gathering, given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norris of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Harry Evans, who is the Merrills' house-guests.

Mrs. Franklyn Laws Hutton, came to her Golf View Road this season by easy stages. Before coming to Palm Beach, Mrs. Hutton left the Waldorf Astoria Towers, stopping at her plantation, Prospect Hill, on Younges Island, S. C., enroute to Florida. Mrs. Hutton is a popular member of the social set here and in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Worswick's striking addition to the cottage colony on South Ocean Boulevard, is being leased by Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder of London this season, and has recently been the setting for many colorful dinner parties and cocktail gatherings. Mrs. Loder is the former Lady Eleanor Davis and has in past seasons been a guest of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst.

Opening day at Hialeah found among the Palm Beach contingent at this colorful sports occasion Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sanford, Mr. Gurnee Munn, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener, Mr. Henry Morgan Tilford, and Mr. Joseph E. Widener.

A distinctive camera study of Mrs. Florence Howell, popular young Palm Beach matron. Classic simplicity is the keynote of this photograph, with Mrs. Howell etched against a background of modulated white. Delicate gladioli lend their beauty to the setting. Mrs. Howell is in residence at 401 Australian Avenue.

AMONG the PALMS

THE early season at The Breakers, famous resort hotel, has been marked by many luncheons and dinner parties at the hotel. Inauguration of weekly bridge parties has proved very popular with guests and their friends. As in former seasons the Breakers' Coconut Grove is one of the popular gathering places in the resort during the afternoon tea dances. Gay parties at the brightly colored tables are noted there daily dancing to Walter Miller's music and enjoying the varied entertainment features. Bert and Patricia Church, popular young dance instructors, have aroused much interest with their new dance, the "Little Foot," which they introduced on the coast this summer and have now introduced to the resort.

The first bridge party of the season brought a number of guests and their friends together for an entertaining evening, under direction of Mrs. Suzanne Jordan. Among those who participated were Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Garmany, Mrs. J. T. Treszevant, Mrs. F. S. Freeman, Mrs. Ray Deininger, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ogden, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith, Mrs. C. B. Hewes, Mr. and Mrs. George McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. James Reeves, Mrs. George Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Peeples, Mr. Raymond G. Noble, Mrs. L. T. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pieper, and Mr. John Carrini.

Mrs. Paul Healy was hostess at luncheon at The Breakers last week to a group of former residents of Paris. Her guests included Mrs. W. P. Howell of Saranac Lake and her brother, Mr. Edmund Clark, Mrs. H. H. Spalding, and Mr. Leicester Spalding. Mrs. William A. Bacher was a luncheon hostess also.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Garmany were hosts at dinner at the hotel to Mr. and Mrs. H. Stillson Hart of the cottage colony. Mr. J. Spencer Love was host at a dinner in the circular dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hinde were hosts at tea on the terrace recently to Mrs. Bingham Plunkett, Mrs. William H. Williams, Mrs. William F. Bode, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Gayle Rosson and Mr. C. Fred Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ogden were hosts at a tea to honor Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott. Their other guests included the Marquis and Marquise La Greca, Mrs. Gertrude Smitton, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Joachim, Mrs. E. B. Hewes, and Mr. John Carrini.

In another party recently were Mrs. James Norman Hill, Mrs. J. Nevett Steele, Mr. Thomas Prosser, and Baron George Wrangell.

General J. Ernest Smith of Wilmington, Del., charter member and also senior member of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach Golfers, arrived for his usual season's sojourn at The Breakers.

Joining the British colony at the hotel were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Y. Groen of London, England, who will remain through the season.

Arriving for her usual stay at the hotel was Mrs. William B. Kaufman of New York. Also from New York are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lipper who have visited The Breakers for many years.

Arriving from Baltimore for their annual season's sojourn at The Breakers were Mr. and Mrs. William G. Scarlett.

Mrs. Alfred M. Low of Boston accompanied by Miss F. J. Waddell was greeted by her many friends on her arrival for her annual season's stay.

Here for their usual visit are Mrs. D. J. Cullinan and the Misses Cullinan of Pittsburgh, Pa., as is Mr. Charles J. Layfield of Scranton.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Candler of Detroit were welcomed yesterday for their annual season's sojourn at The Breakers.

Mr. and Mrs. August C. Pieper of New York arrived yesterday to spend their customary season at the hotel. They are members of The Breakers Cabana Club.

The charming group of cottages called The Villas opened on December 1 for its fifth consecutive season and is again under the management of Miss Miriam Stowers. With its convenient location on Worth Avenue and its individual restaurant, it attracts many Northerners who are in search of a carefree vacation.

Among those staying at The Villas recently were Mrs. George Wheatland of Boston, the Hon. D. Lane Powers and Mrs. Powers of Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert E. Bishop of Norwalk.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. William L. McKim of Short

Cloistered privacy in a sun-kissed Palm Beach court-yard. The tasteful planting of tropical flowers in an intriguingly designed sunken garden adds to the charm of this lovely patio.

Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Lamont DuPont of Wilmington and Dr. and Mrs. Chester J. Robertson of Pelham Manor.

All the ease and comfortable living which the word modern implies can be found at the Surfside, the smart hotel on Hammon Avenue. The Surfside is now in its third season in the resort and is under the management of Mr. William Stevenson. Many guests at the Surfside last year have returned to this hotel for the season.

Among those staying at the Surfside were Mrs. Cummins Catherwood, daughter of Mr. A. Atwater Kent of this resort, Mrs. Graham Youngs, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maddock, Mrs. Chester M. Stratton, Miss Virginia Sinclair of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dau of Chatham, New Jersey.

The first of this season's buffet suppers at Brazilian Court will take place on Sunday evening, January 26th, and will attract scores of colonists and their guests. This feature of resort life has been very popular since it was inaugurated several years ago and many inquiries have been made as to when it would be resumed. The flower-decorated tables are placed in the patio around the fountain, on the protected Spanish cloister, and in case of inclement weather, in the attractive Bamboo dining room. Both patios of the hotel with their lush tropical planting of trees, shrubs and flowers, and illuminated with floods of colored lights.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Strong Mulford of Oak Knoll, Montclair, N. J., have arrived for their annual season sojourn at Brazilian Court and are occupying their usual suite. The Mulfords are actively identified with social and artistic activities in this resort and are members of the Everglades and Bath and Tennis Clubs. Mrs. Carver Havemeyer of New York and her son, William Livingston, arrived last week to be at the hotel for an indefinite time. Mrs. Havemeyer is a former member of the cottage colony and occupied a house on Brazilian Avenue. Her son, who has had several roles in motion pictures produced in Hollywood, has enlisted in the U. S. Army and expects to be called to service soon.

The season is well under way at the Palm Beach Hotel where many annual visitors have arrived to remain until spring. The weekly dinner dances with entertainment have been resumed and attract many guests as well as members of the resort colony. Miss Mary Tolerton, the new hostess, has arranged an interesting program for the winter including, bridge, games, boat rides and quizz nights.

Among well known guests who arrived recently to be welcomed by a host of friends was Mr. William Finley of Brooklyn, who has visited here annually for many years. Miss Peggy LeBaron of New York, popular night club singer, who has recently finished successful engagements at the Savoy Plaza and Le Coq Rouge, has returned to the Palm Beach for a stay of several weeks. W. L. Tushingham, newspaper executive, and Mrs. Tushingham are at the hotel from Camden, N. J.

Other returning guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bert C. Riley of Marlboro, Mass., who have visited at the hotel for the past three years, and take an active part in the social life there. Mr. and Mrs. John Meade of Garden City, L. I., arrived last week. Also there are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Neff of Great Neck, N. Y., with their son, Walter, Jr., and J. T. Bland of the U. S. S. Herbert, Key West, Fla.

Palm Beach's beautiful Biltmore, with its picturesque towers and beautifully planned formal gardens has become an integral part of the island's intriguing sky line. This view from the air reveals a pattern of loveliness only hinted by its cloistered facades.

Sewall's Point

NATURE HAS cooperated with man in creating a delightful atmosphere of privacy for the many pleasant homes and estates at Sewall's Point. Unlike Palm Beach where the larger places are surrounded by vine-clad walls of masonry, the residents of this friendly colony on the St. Lucie River, have enclosed their places of abode with beautiful trees, plants, shrubbery and colorful blooms, without disturbing natural growth of native trees and flowers.

The sign "Sewall's Point Road Ends Four Miles" does not tell the passerby much about the Point. To the majority of people that would mean just another dead-end street. Perhaps that is why there is so little traffic on this narrow highway between the Indian and St. Lucie rivers. The road wanders along through rich hammock land where a dense jungle of water oaks and various palm flourishes. Occasionally a roof-top can be seen. Otherwise, it appears to be a spot where Nature is allowed to follow her own inclinations.

The first residence off the highway is Tuckahoe, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willaford R. Leach of Mount Tate and Atlanta. The familiar Indian name, Tuckahoe, is derived from the ancient Seminole burial ground which forms a part of the property and gives the Leach's one of the highest points on the east coast. A long line of royal palms lends grace and dignity to the drive and the house, which is like a modern castle, situated on the Indian River. The swimming pool is a perfect gem in a flawless setting. Gardening, and especially the growing of native plants, is Mrs. Leach's pet hobby. So there is an abundance of flowering tropical plants in her gardens.

Continuing along the road, the next place is Rivercrest, home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hausmann of New York. All that can be seen from the highway is an intriguing ribbon of road winding over a hill. Following its delightful turns, one comes upon a Cocos Plumosa drive which is punctuated with the flowering purple Bougainvillea. The Hausmann's home, which is nestled in a midst of towering oaks and a variety of palms, has been designed for Florida living. A patio and loggia extend from one side of the house, while an enclosed porch, on the side, faces the St. Lucie River. A sweeping expanse of grass surrounds the house and covers the hill, giving the Hausmanns one of the most beautiful lawns on the Point. Mrs. Hausmann takes a keen personal interest in growing plants and this is reflected in the charm and friendliness of her gardens.

Judge Edward Swan and Mrs. Swan of New York have built their modified Colonial house, Castle Hill, on the ridge that runs the length of the Point. Their large living room with its long French windows commands a view of the Indian River. A royal poinciana tree, which stands sentinel by the door, is breathtakingly lovely in the spring and makes an unforgettable picture. The charming and witty Mrs. Swan is noted for the ease and graciousness with which she entertains her numerous friends.

All Serene is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan of Detroit. The place was given its name by the late George Buchanan, brother of Mr. Robert Buchanan. George Buchanan spent the major portion of his life aiding deserving young men and his memory is preserved in the cocoanut palm grove which the boys whom he aided have planted. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan are busy remodelling their home, restoring the beauty of its old panelled walls and lovely floors.

Sleepy-eyed pelicans roosting on piling in the St. Lucie River, looking remarkably like Mr. Ogden Nash's description of the bird.

One of Mrs. Buchanan's pet hobbies is the collecting of old silver, and All Serene is a perfect setting for her collection.

A huge old tree in the center of the drive is a point of interest in the entrance of Emarita, the home of the Rev. Ambrose H. Beavin and Mrs. Beavin. The Beavins also maintain a home in Hot Springs where he is a rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Their home is one of the oldest on the Point and Mrs. Beavin is as popular with the townspeople of Stuart, which is seven miles away, as she is with her nearest neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. George Hill have recently purchased the Paxton Coley residence and are building a new home on the St. Lucie. A lovely old Australian oak drive leads to their house.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Dunlap of Cincinnati and Michigan have named their home most appropriately Whitegate. The white gates disclose a smooth drive lined with palms and the red hibiscus. The Dunlaps have a large, comfortable house and exceptionally well-cared-for grounds. Mrs. Dunlap's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Andrews of Cincinnati and Kentucky, are their nearest neighbors. The Andrews' home is named Arabella. There, too, is the same naturalness in planting that is so characteristic of the Point.

Farther along is Bay Tree Lodge, residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheek of New York. The Cheek's estate has many delightful surprises. Following a winding path, the visitor suddenly discovers a sparkling fountain half-hidden by dense shrubbery. The swimming pool is also charming for its unexpectedness. The house is situated on the ridge which has a rock base. Great boulders have been hewed to form a path to the Cheek's dock. Looking back from the boat house, the place has a rustic air which reminds the visitor more of Maine than Florida. The Cheeks, like everyone else on the Point, have built their dock on the St. Lucie.

While Mr. and Mrs. Cheek also own the tip of Sewall's Point, the property next to it belongs to one of the oldest families on the Point. This is Mandalay, home of Mrs. Hugh R. Willoughby. Mrs. Willoughby has an unusual view of the inlet where the two rivers, the Indian and the St. Lucie, join the Atlantic. This inlet is world-famous with fishermen and many sailfish have been caught in its waters. Mrs. Willoughby's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Willoughby, III, live at Marvista on Port Sewall, which is separated from Sewall's Point by the St. Lucie River.

There are many other homes on Sewall's Point, many more than an idle motorist, driving along the narrow highway would suspect. And there will soon be many more. Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hall of California have purchased the property next to the Hausmann's. Mrs. Hall is Frances Langford, star of screen and radio.

Property has been sold to Mr. Phillippe Hulitar of Long Island and Mrs. Marsden J. Perry of Washington. But no matter how many new homes are built on the Point, it still maintains its natural simple charm for those who knew it.

NOW THAT America is on her own, sartorially speaking, without the usual direct Paris inspiration, everyone has been awaiting eagerly to see just what would happen! American designers and American-designed clothes, are doing alright! In fact, clothes were never smarter and more glamorous than they are this winter. It would seem that all the glitter and sparkle of many years had been saved and released in gay array to make night life this winter a record-breaking pageant of dazzling beauty.

Beginning at the top—practically everyone has adopted the popular high pompadour coiffure. Embellished with jewels or flowers for formal evening—or, worn without benefit of decoration and topped with one of the sequined veils or lace head-dresses. For daytime, the modernized pompadour is modified a bit—softly brushed up in the front and loose in the back.

Among the news-making trends in fashion, the omnipresent pajama outfit leads the style parade. Pajamas go everywhere this winter—from dawn to dawn again! The newest for dancing are so voluminous, they give the appearance of a full-flowing skirt—yards and yards. And, they are fashioned of many varieties of material from the conservative cottons through silk prints in gay colors and bold prints.

Shoes are getting more wearable and paradoxical as it may seem, more beautiful. The South American influence is giving the spotlight to red shoes. Evening sandals are made of luxurious materials, studded with simulated jewels.

Creole colors abound for daytime, in such tones as: hi-yallah, sazerac red, Spanish moss green, picayune pink, cotton white, shrimp, Orleans blue. Prints are teamed with the more somber solid colors. Play clothes and those for the beach, flaunt the exotic Hawaiian prints; totem green, a new color for spring has already made its appearance in “amphibious” clothes and smart spectator sports creations. Slacks, a must in resort wardrobe, are appearing in many and diverse fabrics and colors, topped by bright-colored or exotic-printed, long-sleeved blouses. The new long torso slack-suits are giving the less formal styling much keen competition.

Mrs. George Vanderbilt and Mrs. Henry J. Topping, Jr., were noted shopping together on Worth Avenue. Mrs. Vanderbilt was wearing one of the new tattoo print blouses with long sleeves, and navy slacks. Mrs. Topping chose a long torso slack suit of pale blue. Sandra Emerson, young daughter of Mrs. Topping, who accompanied her mother that day, was a perfect example of what the smart wee miss should wear—white, daintily trimmed with narrow white lace.

Mrs. Joseph E. Davies made a glamorous appearance at the New Year's Day eggnog party she and Mr. Davies gave at “Mar-a-Lago,” their South Ocean Boulevard home; one of the very long new stoles of platina fox, over her two-toned grey frock.

For the beach, Mrs. Davies is particularly fond of topping her outfit with one of the novel Aunt Jemima turbans of Rodier fabric in bright red, as a protection from the sun, she tops the turban with a crownless, wide-brimmed hat of burnt toast straw.

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, wife of the former ambassador to the Court of St. James, on a recent shopping jaunt on Worth Avenue, was attired in slacks and sports shirt of medium blue, topped with a lemon yellow long-sleeved cardigan sweater.

For the gala opening of the Everglades Club, Mrs. Edith Gibbs Hasler, was charming in a pink lace gown, with fitted bodice and full, flowing skirt; two huge bows of lace, perched on the shoulders, were an effective trimming.

Mrs. Thomas Halton, Jr., was seen at the Patio one evening recently, wearing a smart black net dress of bouffant-skirt styling, cleverly trimmed with sparkling sequins.

Mrs. Harrison Williams wore a sleek black gown to the opening of “This Thing Called Love” at the Paramount Theatre. The bodice, pink taffeta, flaunting two big bows at the décolletage.

Mrs. Charles O. Parsons was lovely in a turquoise blue dress adorned with coral beaded motifs, the evening of the Everglades opening.

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, noted at the Everglades opening, chose one of the smartest ensembles seen this season; a striking oyster-white dress, topped with a gay plaid wool jacket.

A pale blue slack suit with a wide-ribbed corduroy jacket in deeper blue, was the effective shopping costume Mrs. Margaret Emerson was wearing recently on Worth Avenue.

Mrs. George Vanderbilt, among the ringleaders at the boxing arena, topped her costume with one of the chic new white casual coats, repeating the white note in the ribbon bow on her hair.

Among the dashing ensembles noted at the Patio opening were:

Mrs. Harrison Williams in a slim black dress, made with the new low neckline and long, fitted sleeves. Her coiffure was one of the new high pompadour interpretations. As a deviation from all the glitter and sparkle of jewels, Mrs. Williams was wearing several strands of pearls.

Mrs. Diana Guest, also striking in black—accented her costume with a short-sleeved bolero of black sequins.

Miss Christine Cromwell, daughter of Mr. James H. R. Cromwell and granddaughter of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, in a white bouffant creation—large white flowers scattered over the skirt and covering the shoulder straps.

Blue, so popular in the resort style scene this winter, was chosen by Mrs. Matthew T. Mellon, for the Everglades opening—pale blue chiffon.

Fashion creators manage to keep abreast of contemporary news as this beauty inspiration from sunny Greece proves. Elizabeth Arden's gorgeous new coiffure shows sculptured curls at the temple, while above them the hair is wound about the head and brushed to the smoothness of jet. The crown is circled with lacquered braid. . . . The sculptured motif is repeated in the diamond ear clips. Lips and nails are of course artistic triumphs by Elizabeth Arden's American Jewel Make-up. The betrothal ring is a huge emerald cut diamond and that incomparable texture of skin and complexion can be traced to the Arden technique.

A very sophisticated swirled pompadour coiffure, especially designed for her by Elizabeth Arden marks the svelte elegance of the distinguished dowager as she makes her dramatic entrance to the opera. The back of the coiffure is set in a smooth swirl continuing the sweep from the front. An intriguing spray in pearl and diamond pussy-willow holds the lady's lovely locks in place. Ear clips add to the picture. . . . Round diamond buckles and a bracelet of pearl berries pegged in brilliant accessories. . . . Elizabeth Arden's incomparable ruby jewel make-up on lips and nails is the final touch of perfection, after her Firmo-Lift face treatment at the famous Arden Salon on Worth Avenue.

Lacquered braid outlines the head in this Elizabeth Arden classic, with a coiffure that is beautiful in its simplicity. The sculptured motif is repeated in the hair clip and the diamond ear ornaments. Arden's specialists have selected amethyst as the perfect make-up.

Elizabeth Arden has designed this fresh, charming coiffure for the exciting new diamond headdress fashions of the coming opera season. This youthful hair-do is created by the glamour of her first season. Taste-fully chosen hair ornaments add their bit. The make-up is an exquisite complement with its youthful glow. Once again Elizabeth Arden scores with her distinctive Aquamarine, the sub-deb of her jewel harmony make-ups. . . . Matching shade of nail polish add to the glamour of this lovely debutante and the last word must go to the beautifully fitted evening bag designed by the Arden artists.

Under The Stars

FORMAL opening of the world-famous Patio, favorite gathering place of the resort's smart social set will take place Wednesday evening, January 22, with a gala dinner dance marking this fashionable establishment's bow to the season of 1941.

Popular luncheon intervals at the Patio will be inaugurated on Saturday, January 25, with Val Ernie and his society orchestra playing both at luncheon and during the dinner and supper hours.

The Patio this season is especially delightful, with the new lounge affording a gay haven during the cocktail time in the afternoon. Backgammon tourneys are held daily under the instruction of Professor Medem and many resorters are observed taking part in this fascinating game.

The new sliding glass roof which brings a closed room to the patrons instead of the patrons moving to a closed room, has come into it's own on several occasions when blustery breezes threatened. Fitting neatly into place at a moment's notice, the Patio dance floor becomes a cozily enclosed room of delightful charm with the many guests enjoying the dining and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Dulany Hunter occupied a dance floor table with Capt. Alastair Mackintosh and Mr. Clemente Ballin, Mrs. Dodge Sloane and a companion joining them for supper dancing.

Mr. Gurnee Munn was present with his daughter, Miss Fernanda Munn, while at an adjacent table were Mr. Gurnee Munn, Jr., and Miss Antoinette Johnson.

Mrs. Joseph F. Moran was present with Mr. William Ross Howard, III, and Baron Wrangel, while noted in twosomes were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. James B. MacGuire, Mr. David G. Legget and Miss Emily Gwynn, Mrs. Carver Havemeyer and Mr. William Livingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Geffen, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald MacNeil and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merritt formed a gay dinner group and Mr. Frank Hale, his daughter, Miss Dolores Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cleary and Mr. Jack Cleary were at a nearby table.

Many noted socialites were noted dining and dancing at The Patio on Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos being observed with Mr. Charles Munn, Jr., Mrs. Woolworth Donahue, Mr. Clemente Ballin and Miss Fernanda Munn.

In another gay group were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell, Mrs. Ritchey Farrell and Miss Helene Fairfax Farrell.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat entertained for Mr. Charles Harding and Mrs. Newell Tilton.

One interesting party was that of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker, Mrs. Dodge Sloane and Mr. Milton Holden.

Mr. Raymond Guest and Mr. Stephen "Laddie" Sanford, both internationally-known polo stars were observed with Mrs. Guest and Mrs. Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt were observed with Mr. and Mrs. Michael Phipps and Miss Grace Amory.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Spalding III, and Mr. David G. Legget and Miss Joy Plummer were members of the younger set noted on the dance floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Reeves were at an umbrella table while nearby were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker.

The Colony Club, long recognized as the "cross roads of the world of fashions," will open wide its portals on Wednesday evening, January 29th., with a gala dinner dance to celebrate the opening of its 1941 season. In keeping with the Colony Club's traditional custom of providing stellar entertainment for its patrons, is the return engagement of that perennially popular master of rhythm, Ernie Holst, with the most irresistible dance band in the resort. In addition, is the well known Fernando Caney and his famous native rumba music with Capo and Riela, thus assuring the guests of continued and diversified dance music.

The Colony Club will again be in the capable hands of "Raymond," well known restaurateur in Palm Beach and head of the famed "Passy" restaurant in New York. This season he will be accompanied by Mr. John Foglia, of the Ship's Lantern Inn of Milton, New York, who is also a well known personage in this field. The high standard of entertainment, service and food par excellence, which the internationally known Colony Club has always maintained, will again be enjoyed this season.

Due to conditions abroad the Colony is anticipating one of the largest opening nights in its history and while the club is capable of handling a capacity crowd outside and in the famed Passy room, if inclement weather prevails, the management is sincere in advising the patrons to make reservations at their earliest possible convenience in order to avoid last minute rearranging and choice of tables, etc.

WHITEHALL

GAIETY in the Latin manner will be epitomized at the Brazilian gala, "Baile Boa Rola," a Samba soiree, Saturday evening (Jan. 25) in the beautiful Jardin Royal at Whitehall. Simulating a bullfight arena, the garden will be strung with a hundred Brazilian flags and pennants in green, blue and yellow taffeta alternating with illuminated cellophane ovals and serpents in the same colors. The affair is sponsored by His Excellency, Dr. Armando Vida, Commissioner General of Brazil.

Tops in the terpsichorean world, Renee and Root, will be imported for the occasion, giving their own interpretation of pasa doble and bolera, typically South American dances. The Arthur Murray group will do an exhibition Samba inviting the guests to participate. Dressed as a South American gaucho, "Sonny" (Bowen C.) Tufts, romantic tenor, will sing the colorful songs of the Argentine.

At the "Bittersweet Ball," on Saturday evening, Feb. 8, an orange, yellow and gold decorative setting will have a background of orange and yellow chiffon drapes in the archways and vari-colored serpentine strung through the palms and over the dance-floor in the Jardin Royal. If the weather is inclement the party will be held in the comfortable, steam-heated Palm Court.

Root will feature Ravel's Bolero and the Samba. The latter, a brilliant Brazilian routine, was first introduced by the pair in the East a year ago and was promptly taken up by El Morrocco, Stork and Versailles, where it has become a contemporary favorite. Jorge Coste-Lait, Brazilian consul in New York, pronounced their version the only authentic Samba he had ever seen danced outside his own country.

Much social activity is apparent at Whitehall where many season visitors are entertaining either at the delightful Cocktail Hour or the nightly dinner-dance. Mrs. F. F. Proctor of New York, widow of the theatrical magnate, who has returned to her apartment at Whitehall for the season, entertained at the formal opening dinner-dance on Jan. 11. Among others there for the season are Mr. and Mrs. William Demuth of New York, Mrs. Albert Adler of Great Neck, L. I.,

Dr. and Mrs. James P. McGuire of Evanston, Ill., arrived recently at Whitehall for their annual Palm Beach visit. Dr. Federico Piombo of New York, Brazilian diplomat, and Mrs. Piombo, came from New York recently to pass a fortnight here.

Sir Harry and Lady Oakes, who arrived recently by plane from Nassau, entertained at the formal opening dinner-dance. Prince Mikhail A. Goundoroff, who has taken one of the Coronet apartments for the season, entertained recently at the Cocktail Hour in the Jardin Royal. Another titled visitor was Baron George Wrangel of New York, former society editor of the New York Journal, now in the radio field.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward LeRoux of New York and Paris, who have been passing a few weeks at Whitehall, have leased a villa on South Ocean Boulevard where they will leave their two children while on a cruise to South America. They sail from New York the latter part of the month.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Worswich of London left Whitehall for New York recently after leasing their house here.

Turning Tourist Tide to Southern Americas

A DECISIVE step to open the floodgates of a billion-dollar reservoir of American travel dollars, "dammed up" by the war's barring of American tourists' routes to Europe and the Mediterranean countries, and for which the U. S. Government and private transport agencies have long been formulating plans, is rapidly taking final shape in the United States Capital, and at sea and air ports.

The opening gun in what both Government and private agencies hope will prove a popular campaign to turn the tide of travel north and south on an "American Axis" through the 21 Western Republics, has taken the form of a Government-approved "tourist rate" over the United States air lines to both coasts of South America.

OPENS NEW FIELD

Under what is believed to be the first provision of this kind in the country's transportation history, Pan American Airways, with tours to the Caribbean countries and the East Coast of South America, and the Pan-American Grace Airways, which completes the link from the Panama Canal, over the West Coast of South America to Buenos Aires, has inaugurated a weekly series of six special "itineraries," three tourist "cruises" destined to the Latin American capitals on each coast.

Simultaneously, the Grace Line and the American Republics Line, the principal U. S. steamer services to the southern continent, have under way additional tourist-travel plans covering these same territories to encourage a greater volume of sea-borne travel. The combination of two services, air and sea, in the opinion of officials, will provide attractive travel media for all classes of tourists, with trips ranging from 11 days by air to 32 days by steamer.

"GOOD NEIGHBOR" PLAN

Considered one of the most important and practical steps toward making "Good Neighbors" of the American Republics, the planned stimulation of inter-America travel will effect a diversion of tourist funds to these southern countries. The diversion is counted upon to supply an important element of exchange with which to stimulate a greater flow of "economic defense" trade between the sister republics of the Western Hemisphere.

Since the outbreak of hostilities in Europe barred the main channels of American tourist travel, Government agencies in Washington, including the United States Travel Bureau—the Department of Interior, the Pan American Union, and the unofficial Committee on Pan American Travel, have been actively at work with the principal transportation companies operating to Latin America on development of plans to stimulate both tourist and business travel southward.

These agencies estimate that during normal years some 500,000 Americans travel to foreign countries, of which less than 5 per cent, in tourist classifications, have gone to the South American Republics, up to the outbreak of the European war.

AIR TRAVEL GAINS

During the current year passenger traffic by air and sea to Latin America has mounted steadily. Air travel reported by Pan American Airways from the United States to overseas destinations, principally the West Indies and the countries of Central and South America, has more than doubled in the past four years, according to reports of the United States Department of Commerce.

Recent inauguration of additional schedules and a reduction in travel time to 3 1-2 days by way of either coast to Buenos Aires is expected to result in sharp stimulation of travel, particularly among those whose time is limited to two or three weeks during the vacation periods.

Current air schedules provide a seven-day circuit of the South American Continent as compared with nearly two months formerly required by surface for the same trip. Steamship companies, likewise, through the arrangement of tours stopping at comparatively nearby ports, are offering tourist trips of two and three weeks as well as the 5 and 6-week itineraries for the more distant South American countries.

AIR CRUISES SCHEDULED

Heading the new "Travel in the Americas" campaign proclaimed by President Roosevelt, six special itineraries for air travelers are operated each week to South American capitals. On the East Coast the first cruise provides an 11-day itinerary over the West Indies and the Guianas and through the interior of Brazil over the New 1,000-mile cut-off to Rio de Janeiro in the "Sub-stratosphere" Clippers.

The second covers 18 days over the same territory with extended itineraries in southern Brazil, while the third is a 25-day itinerary to the east coast capitals with a week or more in Rio and Buenos Aires.

On the west coast, three similar itineraries are operated by Pan American-Grace Airways from Cristobal south to cover trips of 13 days through Colombia, Ecuador and Peru; 22 days with addition of inland trips to the famous Inca landmarks in Peru and Bolivia, and a third itinerary, which, within a four weeks' vacation time provides stop-overs at all west coast capitals and trips over the trans-Andean lines of Pan-American-Grace Airways via Bolivia or Chile to Argentina and Buenos Aires.

AIR "TOURISTS" RATES

To effect this new travel plan, the United States government has approved, and Pan American Airways and Pan American Grace Airways have adopted, rates which represent, in effect, a third less than the standard transport tariffs. Likewise, all living facilities beyond transportation which are required by the tourist are provided at reduced rates in order to encourage the flow of tourist travel to these southern countries.

The agencies cooperating on the "Travel American" program report that similar efforts to direct traffic northward from these far South American countries are already producing effective results. Aside from the generally sympathetic reception given the recently instituted new and faster transport services between North and South America, a number of Latin American governments have already taken steps to simplify passport and visa requirements for special application to American citizens traveling as tourists.

PASSPORT DETAILS SIMPLIFIED

While passport and visa requirements vary widely for the different Latin American countries, the United States State Department, the Pan American Union and other inter-American agencies, working with these governments, have been instrumental in obtaining an easing of existing regulations, particularly for tourist-type travel. To supplement these efforts, the Pan American Airways System has been able to effect among Consular offices of several of the countries, notably Mexico, Guatemala, and Cuba, the elimination of formal passport requirements substituting for these a simple tourist card or acceptable travel document which can be used by American citizens for entry into or passage through these countries.

Both government and unofficial agencies which have made a close study of Pan American relations, specially during the past year, consider the establishment of an "American Axis" for travel as an important corollary to the expected expansion of commerce between the American Republics which, encouraged now because of war conditions, is expected to form a basis for a new trade order after the present European conflict. Whereas it is generally considered to be important that more Americans of both continents get acquainted by travel, the practical effect of diverting sizable sums expended by travelers will in many cases provide the exchange necessary to finance important trade expansion.

BILLION DOLLAR "RESERVOIR"

Records compiled by the Committee on Pan American Travel disclosed that United States travelers spent upwards of $550,000,000 in foreign countries during 1938, the last year for which complete records are at hand. This committee estimates that no more than $20,000,000 of this half billion sum was spent in South America in that year. However, travel expenditures by North Americans in the other American Republics in 1939 are estimated to have been many times more in 1939 than in 1938 because of the early diversion of travel caused by unsettled conditions in Europe. A preliminary report by the Finance Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce indicated that the movement of American tourist dollars to Mexico alone, in 1939 reached the $50,000,000 mark.

While governmental agencies in Washington were uniting with private and commercial groups aimed at increasing our trade and travel through the Hemisphere, one knotty problem—foreign exchange—is being closely studied by Department of Commerce officials with the view toward finding ways and means of increasing United States purchases from Latin America.

Foreign trade authorities point out that the diversion of American travel expenditures to Latin America would provide not only a practical but a substantial element of exchange with which to effect a better trade balance. Government and transport experts feel that the "dammed up" travel dollars which formerly went to England, Eastern Europe, Scandinavia and the Mediterranean countries, which are now entirely cut off for American travel, must find other outlets and the purpose of the national efforts at this time are to divert that flow into the neighboring American nations.

THE newest restaurant in Palm Beach is also its most unusual Viennese dining place. It is Mayerling, which is located in the Worth Avenue Arcade just off the Avenue. Here they have recaptured all the beauty and charm of old imperial Vienna, celebrated in the music of Johann Strauss.

The restaurant is patterned after the famous old Zum Weissen Ross'l Restaurant in Mayerling which Crown Prince Rudolph frequented. Mayerling has also been able to procure the original recipe for champagne sours and, after tasting this intriguing drink, it is easy to understand why the Crown Prince was such a frequent visitor there.

They do not, however, depend on colorful atmosphere alone for their popularity. The delectable cuisine appeals to the most fastidious gourmet. Fascinating dishes like paprika schnitzel, wiener backhahn, and schnitzel a la Vetsera are served on the charming flagstoned patio or in the cherry dining room to discriminating guests.

With Charles, formerly of Hapsburg House and the Everglades Club, as Major-Domo, and a chef who served his apprenticeship under the Grand Kitchen Master to Emperor Franz Josef at Schoenbrunn, Mayerling has the truly authentic flavor of pre-war Austria.

Mrs. Frederick McAvoy was dinner hostess at Mayerling to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loder, Mr. and Mrs. P. Bradley Clark, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Mr. William de Rham and Capt. Alastair Mackintosh. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Embiricos have been a frequent twosome. Mrs. William H. Buckley entertained Mrs. Robert Bennett, Mrs. Elsie McDermott, Miss Kay Buckley and Miss Gabrielle Buckley.

Mrs. Wanamaker Munn dined with Mr. Clemente Ballin. Mr. William de Rham's party included Lt. Commander John M. L. Rutherford and Mrs. Rutherford. Mrs. Marianne Foskett had Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. Frank van Eiznier and Miss Elaine Dickson as her luncheon guests.

Others seen at Mayerling were Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs, Prince Mikhail Goundoroff with Mr. Harry Hammer, Mrs. Evelyn McLaughlin Gray, Mrs. Jack W. Salisbury with Mrs. Edward U. Roddy, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. McMaster Mills, Mrs. Cummins Catherwood and Col. and Mrs. Wade W. Carpenter.

Although the noted French restaurant was opened early in the season the gala formal opening of The Chambord took place Tuesday, January 14, when a large number of dinner parties were given by members of the resort colony. Reminiscent of Old France is this favorite gathering place where a superlative cuisine is served at luncheon in the charming Patio Vert and dinner in the baronial dining room. The invincible combination of a delectable menu, rare vintages, and harmonious musical interludes by Ramon Littee's Ensemble is a magnet at all times for a distinguished clientele.

Cocktail time at the Chambord is an occasion for many parties. The invitation cocktail party and tea held there after the official opening of the House of Jade brought together many members of resort society. Hostesses were Marquise La Greca, Mrs. Gertrude Smitton, Mrs. Stanley Charles Nott, and Mrs. Henry Joachim. Among those noted there were Mrs. William R. Sweatt, Mrs. Lorenzo E. # Old World Atmosphere at Palm Beach Biltmore

THE 1941 season has brought new faces and policies to the Palm Beach Biltmore and World War II has had its effect on guest list and management alike. The seasoned American traveler, who this year has had to forego a customary foreign sojourn has been pleased to discover the coveted Old World atmosphere much in evidence at the Biltmore and much of this is due to the influence of Mr. Leo A. Tworoger and his associate manager Mr. John L. Stanley, who for many years were affiliated with the famous Princess Hotel in Bermuda.

Messrs. Tworoger and Stanley have determined a policy of conservative operation for the Biltmore with a modern adaptation of the English type of service for which the Princess Hotel was noted. In accordance with this plan has been the introduction of waitresses in the dining rooms in place of the European waiters common to most Florida hotels. Many similar changes in operating policy this year have given to the Biltmore a gracious distinction having a special flavor for the discriminating traveler.

Mr. Tworoger is at the Biltmore after fifty years with the Bermuda hostelry. Mr. Stanley has been his associate for the past twenty years and the couple returned to the states this year due to the fact that war conditions have forced the closing of The Princess and other Bermuda hotels. With the management have come many former Princess guests who find Palm Beach preferable to the English colony this winter.

Familiar scenes at the Biltmore this year include the ever popular Cocktail Hour in the Cascades Bar. Here each afternoon gay crowds are gathered to hear Ruth Landi, pretty young singer of popular songs who is filling a return engagement and to listen to the words of wisdom offered by Myrus, the all-knowing mystic who likewise has performed at the Biltmore in former years. Here also during Cocktail Hour may be heard Michael Harmon, baritone whose credentials include experience with the Columbia Broadcasting company, Universal Pictures and a season as vocalist with Vincent Lopez. Paul Sparr and his Meyer Davis Biltmore ensemble are again providing dance music in the Bar during cocktail and evening dance hours.

Tea hour is a favorite feature with residents and each afternoon groups gather on the spacious, sunny Terrace Gardens which overlook the landscaped gardens on the edge of Lake Worth. Family groups find the quiet secluded atmosphere of the gardens during the late afternoon a definite must on their daily program.

Long a favorite with Palm Beach visitors the Biltmore, blending graceful old Spanish architecture and furnishings with every modern facility for comfort and entertainment affords an ideal winter vacation spot. The largest hotel on the southern Florida coast, the Biltmore has many outstanding features to offer its patrons; unexcelled facilities for sports, extensive public rooms and more than 600 private rooms. Resident guests continue to enjoy the privileges of the exclusive Sun and Surf and the Palm Beach Country Club. Both are on the ocean front and maintain facilities for all manner of sports.

Among the formal social events planned for the Biltmore is a series of gala evening parties on St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14th, Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22nd, and on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th.

Members of the Artists' and Writers' Golf Association will return to the Biltmore this winter to hold their annual winter meeting and golf tournament Feb. 14th to 24th. The latter, a match play event, will be held over the Palm Beach Country Club championship course. The executive committee in charge of the Associations' tournament and affairs included John Golden, chairman, Rex Beach, Frank J. Black, Summer Blossom, Arthur William Brown, Innis Brown, Gene Buck, William L. Chenery, Frank Crowninshield, Billy De Beck, Philip Dunning, James Montgomery Flagg, Rube Goldberg, Roy Howard, Charles A. Hughes, Clarence B. Kelland, Messmore Kendall, John LaGatta, Albert Lefcourte, Ray McCarthy, Floyd Parsons, Grantland Rice, Richard L.

Another sports group to meet at the Biltmore will be the New Jersey Seniors' Golf Association, an associate organization of the National Seniors' Golf Association. Members will play their annual tournament at the Country Club, the week of February 22nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Dyer of Cincinnati are occupying the Biltmore Penthouse for the season and will be joined later in the season by Mr. and Mrs. John Finn of Cincinnati, annual winter visitors. Others registered include Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ogden, Mrs. James Fowler, Mrs. C. H. Phelps, Miss Margaret Egan, Mrs. A. D. Towvim, Mr. L. S. Lindsay, Mr. C. C. Worthington, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, East Orange, and Mr. R. D. Plamondon, Cincinnati.

Along The Fairways

MAJOR tournament play got under way last week over the Palm Beach Golf club course and the famed Everglades club links with large entry lists at both clubs. At the Golf club, three flights of sixteen took part in the 34th Annual Lake Worth Tournament for men, while at the Everglades club, men and women members played off the Francis Shaughnessy Memorial Cup competition, of 18 holes medal play under handicap.

Sunday afternoon Tombstone or Flag competition has been held for several weeks at the exclusive Seminole Golf club with close play being registered.

Tommy Goodwin, seven times medalist of the 34th Annual Lake Worth tournament, continued his winning streak in the first round match play over the Palm Beach Golf club course, to defeat H. L. Willoughby, Jr., of Port Sewall, Fla., by the wide margin of 9 and 8.

The day previous, Goodwin copped the medal by tallying a 69, one under the club par for the newly renovated course, being trailed by Smiley Quick of South Los Angeles who finished four strokes over the medalist.

I. L. "Ike," Merrill, Daytona Beach sharpshooter and defending champion finished the medal round with a 76 and then proceeded to defeat David G. Legget of Pelham Manor by the score of 5 and 4.

Goodwin failed to play the spectacular golf of the previous day and rounded the turn one over par with a 36. He went over with a five on the first hole and on the seventh, halving the only hole of the match on the latter green when he shared fives with Willoughby.

Merrill scored a 38 on the out-nine to round the turn two up on Legget. He dropped the first hole with a five, but scored wins with par figures on the fifth and sixth and also took the ninth with a four. He won three in a row on the in-nine, halving the 13th and 14th to take the match.

Tommy Goodwin, long driving New York and Palm Beach golf champion spoiled the chances of I. L. "Ike," Merrill, Daytona Beach defending champion, to win the 34th Annual Lake Worth tournament for the second time when he eliminated last year's titlist by the score of 3 and 2, in the quarter final round before a large gallery.

Smiley Quick, flashy, South Los Angeles linksman, bowed to defeat at the hands of T. Dennie Boardman, well known Palm Beach golfer in the closest match of the day which went to 20 holes.

In the other two brackets of the championship division Briggs Cunningham, club golfer from Green Farms, Conn., defeated W. B. Merry of West Palm Beach 2 up and Truman Lifsey, West Palm Beach tourney golfer, defeated H. L. Willoughby, 3rd of Port Sewall, Fla., by the same score.

Trap trouble cost Merrill his match with Goodwin. Both matched strokes for par cards on the first three holes but on the fourth, Merrill was short and in the trap to take a five to Goodwin's four. Goodwin garnered the fifth when Merrill missed his putt and won the seventh and ninth when Merrill found the trap again. On the eighth Goodwin was over the green on a strong approach to take an extra putt and lose the hole, rounding the turn three up with a par 35 to Merrill's 38.

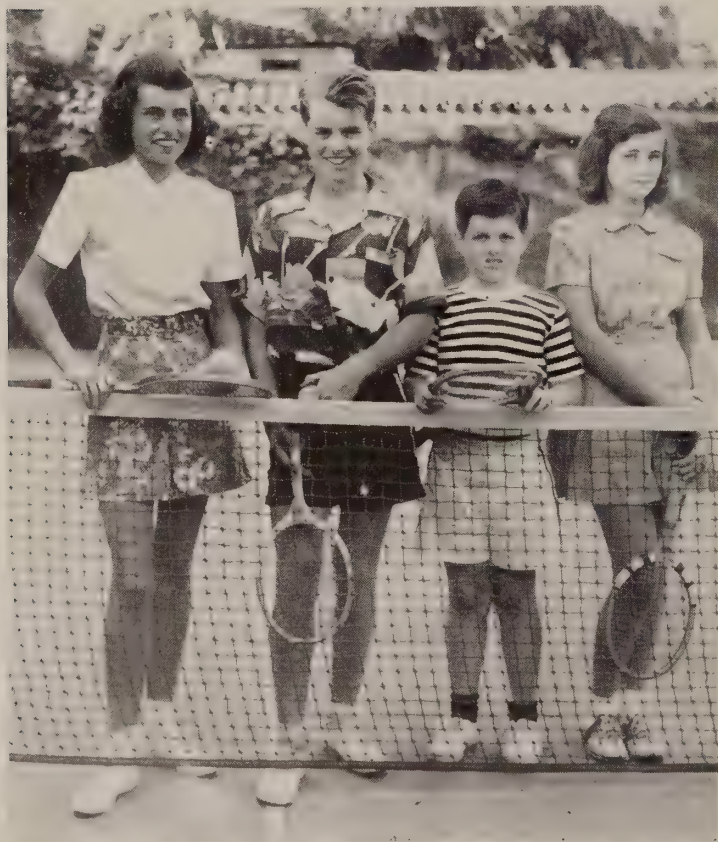

On the in-round Goodwin took the 10th and on the 12th Merrill drove out of bounds. They shared the 13th with fours but Merrill got his touch back on the next two holes to gain the 14th with a birdie, Goodwin approaching short on the side, and winning the 15th with a par three.

"ORIENTAL GARDENS"

LOCATED on the old Jacksonville-St. Augustine road, within the city limits and not more than two miles from the business district of Jacksonville, Oriental Gardens extends from San Jose Boulevard to the broad expanse of the St. John's River.

Eighteen acres of natural charm embellished with thousands of plants and flowers from almost every section of the world, comprise the Oriental Gardens which are rapidly becoming one of the most popular show-places in the entire United States.

Towering Live Oak trees ranging in age from 500 to of nature's many wonders. In the center there has been developed a large Sunken Garden with crystal clear streams and mirror-like pools reflecting the beauty of the vivid surroundings. Many varieties of fish swim contentedly beneath the water's surface.

Hundreds of rare tropical and sub-tropical flowers

Gorgeous hydrangeas of such magnificent proportions that they dwarf the figure of a young lady framed by their prodigal beauty, are seen in this glimpse in a corner of tropical Oriental Gardens.

1,000 years, according to tree experts, outstretch their arms in magnificent display, while giant Cypress sentinels that throw long shadows on vast areas of brilliant sunsplashed lawns, are part of the picture this outstanding attraction holds in store for its many yearly visitors.

A beautiful private estate of picturesques arches, stone lanterns, Chinese Pagodas, summer-house, sulphur spring, a unique water-wheel and numerous other ornaments which, together with the Asiatic and tropical plantings as well as the natural foliage, have created one of the most outstanding and shrubs are blended with the more familiar varieties; the many floral sections and vistas are separated by the judicious use of walks and strips of lawn, each containing the flowers for which it has been named, such as Hemerocallis, Azalea, Hydrangea, Gardenia, Lantana, Cape Jessamine, Butterfly Lily, Crinum Giganteum, Canna, Malvaviscus, Amoryllis, Japanese Iris and numerous Vines and Ferns.

Wandering through the Gardens one feels as if he had entered a new world, over which nature has full sway and, as the strains of hidden music seem to emanate from the trees themselves, one is at loss to describe the exquisite charm.

On the far side of the Sunken Garden the road winds up to the higher level of ground where, at the top of the hill, scores of citrus fruit trees may be seen; a wide confusion of Orange, Grapefruit, Kumquat, Tangerine and Lime as a special treat to a great number of Northern visitors, many of whom, for the first, experiences the thrill of seeing citrus fruit trees bearing fruit and blossoming at the same time.

During the months of February and March the Azaleas make up a flower display of brilliant pink, rose and red, as looking the banks of the beautiful St. John's River are vast spreads of lawn, dotted with great moss-covered Oak, their spreading arms seeming to point in every direction to the many thrilling pictures and varied spots of color made by beds of countless varieties of flowers.

Provided with winding auto drives, should one prefer driving, or a safe parking space for your car where you feel at liberty to explore to your heart's content the up and down pathways through jungle-like fastnesses of flowers and foliage of every shape and hue, or over the wide expanse of the beautifully-kept level green lawns dotted with benches and comfortable resting places where one may listen to the soft strains of sweet music as it fills the air.

A farewell to the Gardens leaves a lasting impression and a deeper appreciation of nature's many wonders as one can-

An invitation to an adventure in loveliness beckons to the visitor, as fragrant Oriental Gardens unfolds its panorama of mysterious paths, shaded by overhanging moss-covered trees and a plethora of exotic tropical growth.

they spread along paths winding under giant Live Oaks draped with Spanish Moss. Through the summer months the gorgeous Hydrangeas in their breath-taking beauty are a sight to behold. Boasting of the largest display known to exist in the United States, blue, pink and lavender Hydrangeas blossom on the same bushes in this beautiful man-made paradise, some of the bushes reaching a height of eight feet. Over-not fail to value the beauties the fifteen long years of labor spent in landscaping this lovely spot has wrought, and to know that the world is a wonderful place in which to live, regardless of all the turmoil and chaos within it, for it is true that—

“One is nearer God's heart in a Garden
Than anywhere else on earth.”

JAMAICA RUM?

BY ALL MEANS!

JAMAICA

THE ROYALTY OF

Rums

For more than two centuries, JAMAICA rums have been freely acknowledged the world's finest. Their superior quality, achieved solely by the distillation process and natural ageing in wood, compares with that of the best imported brandies and whiskies. Their exquisite, distinctive flavour, totally unlike that of other rums, has never been successfully imitated. And their costs are lower than those of comparably fine Scotch whiskies.

JAMAICA HIGHBALL

One of the most popular and refreshing Rum drinks. Pour a dash of Jamaica Rum over a few cubes of ice and add a splash of Dry Ginger Ale. Also delightful when mixed with Soda.

JAMAICA COCKTAIL

One half cocktail glass of Jamaica Rum and an equal measure of sweet Vermouth; add plenty of cracked ice, stir well and enjoy a new and fascinating Jamaica Rum Cocktail.

JAMAICA PUNCH

One part lime juice; two parts sugar or syrup; three parts Jamaica Rum; four parts water (in warm climate three parts water and lots of cracked ice). Shake well. Serve immediately.

JAMAICA NOG

Mix one part sweetened condensed milk with an equal portion of Jamaica Rum; shake well with cracked ice, serve with a cherry and you have a most delicious short drink.

JAMAICA COLLINS

Mix one part of lime juice, two parts of sugar or syrup, four parts of Jamaica Rum and an equal measure of Soda Water. Add cracked ice, stir briskly, drink through a straw.

Wishing every success to

MRS. LELAND EGGLESTON COFER

Who with Dr. Cofer is spending the season at their Barton Avenue home. Mrs. Cofer is actively engaged in British war relief, being executive chairman of the Bundles for Britain, Inc.

Cottage Colony Captures Sunshine Hours

PALM BEACH'S cottage colony seems determined to utilize every hour of sunshine this season, with the most popular and prevalent party, the cocktail gathering in the sunny patio of the island's sea-side and lake front villas. What better setting to capture the spell of tropical Florida, than the picturesque, tree lined courtyard of a lovely manse, with the sound of the surf and the whisper of the trade winds rustling through the fronds of stately palms.

That leisurely lull in the busy social life of the international set is best exemplified by these care-free informal cocktail parties, which demand a minimum of preparation and give the maximum in entertainment and relaxation. Each afternoon finds the inevitable row of streamlined, sleek motor cars, parked in front of various of the resort's residences and in the winding trails of the large estates, as the sun-tanned owners bask in the sunshine beside their host's swimming pool or chat pleasurably in the shade of a picturesque palm.

Many of the social gatherings during the sunshine hours at the various villas find the guests combining a chat over cocktails with a bit of knitting for the British soldiers or planning for one of the several affairs to be staged in Palm Beach this season for British War Relief. Hardly a socialite in the colony who is participating actively in this popular cause.

"Villa del Sarmiento," the ocean front home of Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, is one of the most popular "sunshine settings" in the colony. The lovely Mrs. O'Brien, whose orchidaceous beauty and distinctive coiffure are the envy of her feminine friends, is the perfect hostess, and it has become a proverb in the resort, that a party at Villa del Sarmiento is definitely insured against boredom.

As usual Mrs. O'Brien's villa shelters a number of popular members of the international set. Among the interesting guests at her home this season are Mr. and Mrs. Byron C. Foy, the irrepressible Miss Elsa Maxwell, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

A series of gay cocktail parties heralded the advent of this popular group of guests at Villa del Sarmiento, with the social colony's activities revolving to a great extent around this brilliant nucleus. The O'Brien phone has been the busiest in Palm Beach between calls for the handsome young film star and the international set's famous party-giver.

Since Mrs. Maitland Alexander's arrival in Palm Beach aboard her yacht "Viator," her ocean boulevard, home "Whitehouse" has been the background for many interesting parties, many of them given in honor of her guest, Mrs. Eugene Nessler. Mr. Charles Alexander, her son, is also with her.

Sir Norman Angell was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glasgow during his stay in Palm Beach, with Middle Road a busy thoroughfare during his stay there. Sir Norman found receptive audiences in his lectures at the Palm Beach Round Table and at the Breakers Hotel.

One of the afternoon gatherings that had a worthy cause as its motivating factor, was the recent Bethesda-by-the-Sea Altar Guild Tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCoskry Butt's home on Clarke Avenue. Several hundred members of the winter colony attended the Bethesda benefit Tea. Music during the afternoon was furnished by a string ensemble and punch was served in the sun-kissed patio by the younger set.

The tea table in the dining-room was lighted by lovely silver candelabra, placed at either end of the table. Pouring during the afternoon were Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Mrs. Clinton Sibley Dow, Mrs. Alexander Hadden, Mrs. Samuel Moody, Mrs. Flynn Stewart, Mrs. McAlpin Bell and Mrs. George C. Van Dusen.

Fragrant bouquets of cut flowers and attractively decorated baskets of colorful ferns and flowers were used effectively in the patio and the dining-room. Members of the Altar Guild were hostesses, assisted by the Tri-Color Club, a high school organization, for which Mrs. Butt is the sponsor.

Mrs. G. Horton Glover entertained fourteen of her friends at a recent luncheon at her El Brillo Way villa, "Nido de Amor," in honor of Mrs. Beauchamp Smith of York, Pa., who is the house guest of Mrs. S. Fahs Smith. The Glover manse was also the setting for a gay cocktail party, with their sunny patio utilized.

An ardent golf enthusiast, the former Miss Diana Fishwick, noted as one of Britain's finest shot-makers, is seen approaching the first tee at the Everglades Club's championship golf course recently. Her husband is Brig. General Critchley of London.

Recently returned from France, where she was an eyewitness to many of the scenes of turmoil prevalent there, Mrs. John Jay, of "Tavillon de Chase" in Fairfield, Conn., and Paris, France, is now occupying Mrs. Frank Farquharson's estate on the South Ocean Boulevard. Mrs. Jay's farm in Fairfield, Conn., is a complete replica of her French country estate.

The Tarpon Island home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stuart Davis continues to furnish a beautiful background for a continuity of gay cocktail parties and an occasional dinner gathering. More than a hundred members of the resort colony enjoyed a recent cocktail gathering on the terrace of their beautiful home, overlooking the waters of Lake Worth.

Receiving with the host and hostess were Mrs. Davis' mother and brother, Mrs. Cullen W. Bailey and Mr. Cullen W. Bailey. A profusion of tropical flowers were used to decorate for the party, which was held on a perfect day, with the sun overhead and soft breezes stirring the leaves of the trees and rippling the waters of the lake.

The Davis home, which is built on their own private island, is one of the most ideal of the colony's sunshine settings, with an incomparable view from every point of the estate. Many of the social colony have enjoyed its spacious grounds and the gracious hospitality of its hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, whose beautiful estate on the North Ocean Boulevard is one of the showplaces of the island, have joined the colony's hunting enthusiasts. They, like many other winter residents of the Palm Beach area, have found that the Everglades abounds with wild game of every imaginable type. Everything from wildcats to deer are apt to provide game for the hunter in Florida's famous hunting grounds.

On a recent trip to the Glades, Mr. and Mrs. Phipps bagged a number of prize specimens for their collection, which is one of the most interesting in the resort. Not the least of the charm of these sorties into the mysterious Everglades is the element of surprise, for hardly a trek into this stamping ground that does not furnish a thrill or a new experience.

Mrs. William Richard Sweatt is among the island's favorite residents. Her home on Sea Breeze Avenue is always the setting for a number of charming small parties for her host of friends. At a recent luncheon party, given in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Joseph Parker, fourteen of the resort's socialites were present.

Palm Beach welcomed back one of her most popular winter residents recently, when Mrs. Wesson Seyburn of Grosse Pointe arrived to occupy "Casa Giravento," her Via La Selva residence. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger, Jr., accompanied Mrs. Seyburn and are her house-guests.

Sir Harry and Lady Oakes are among the colony's greatest gadabouts. One never knows whether Sir Harry and his lovely wife are ensconced at their Barton Avenue home or winging their way to their Nassau estate. Their twelve thousand acre home in Nassau is, as always, the background for many of the social functions of that resort and while in Palm Beach they are a part of the gay social life of this colony. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, the present Governor and First Lady of Nassau, occupied the Oakes estate in Nassau while Government House was being made ready for them.

From cool gracefully designed sharkskin dress to matching casual footwear, Mrs. George Vanderbilt of Sands Point, L. I., Honolulu and Palm Beach is a picture of what the well dressed socialite is wearing on Worth Avenue this season.

Beautiful in every detail, the loveliness of the main lounge of the Everglades Club is enhanced by the many flowers and shrubs which have been tastefully arranged throughout the room.

Everglades Club Establishes Precedent

MR. HUGH DILLMAN, President of the Everglades Club, and his distinguished Board of Governors will again throw open the doors of this famous social center and give unsparingly of their time and talents to insure the success of a popular altruistic cause. The President of the Everglades Club, whose accomplishments in the field of civic and social welfare for peoples in our own community and the unfortunate victims of foreign wars, are known to everyone familiar with the Palm Beach scene, will serve as Chairman for the "Rule Britannia Ball," to be held the evening of March 3, at the club.

The joint committees of British War Relief and Bundles for Britain are co-operating with the governing body of the Everglades Club to make this social and civic function as outstanding a success as last year's record breaking "Finlandia" Ball, that netted the Finns over ten thousand dollars, under the sponsorship of Mr. Dillman and other leaders in the colony.

Mr. Milton W. Holden, an active participant in last year's Finlandia Ball at the Everglades Club, will act as Master of Ceremonies for this year's "Rule Britannia Ball." Plans are underway to stage something in the nature of a review, the talent to be drawn from the island's social colony.

The committee has not decided as to whether the Ball shall be staged as a costume affair, but the opinion was expressed that in any event, the ladies would be encouraged to wear evening dresses with a red-white and blue motif, indicative of the British and American colors, and that the gentlemen might sport boutonnieres in the same colors.

Prominent among the joint committees of the British Relief agencies who take an important part in the forthcoming Rule Britannia Ball at the Everglades Club on March 3, are Mrs. Robert Huntington, Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, Mrs. Diana Guest, Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth and Mrs. George Edward Kent, Jr.

One of the highlights of last season, was the address made by Mr. Hugh Dillman at the Everglades Club, when the President of this famous social and civic center told the members and their guests, that he would, with their approval, do his bit toward encouraging a longer season in the resort, by opening the club to its members a week earlier than ever before in its history.

This year found the Everglades Club's distinguished mentor fulfilling his promise, with a capacity crowd attending the opening dinner dance on Christmas night, definitely justifying this precedent shattering innovation.

The Everglades Club blazed the trail in recognizing the fact that Palm Beach's visitors are coming earlier and staying later, by furnishing social activities for its membership and their friends during a period that was heretofore a vacuum, socially speaking, in the lives of the socialites who arrived in the resort before New Year's Eve and its traditional inception of the social season.

Members of the club have come to expect a distinctive change in the decorative scheme of some part of this world renowned rendezvous for the smart set every season, and this year proved to be no exception. The Central Patio has been completely transformed from its austere Moorish formality into a Mediterranean courtyard, and re-designed to furnish the ideal setting for the many cocktail parties given at the Everglades Club.

"Never a dull moment" has become the watchword at the Everglades Club since its rebirth a few seasons ago and this year presages the most significant season in the history of the club, from both a social and civic standpoint.

As usual the weekly Tombola Luncheons and Style Shows are attracting many of the social colony to the beautiful Orange Gardens each Wednesday afternoon. Several hundred of the island's resorters enjoyed a recent Tombola Luncheon and Style Show at the Everglades Club. The Orange Gardens was the background for most of the luncheon parties, with cocktail lounge crowded to capacity prior to the luncheon.

Vying with the style presental in chic and elegance of attire were the many lovely gowns worn by the guests at this gathering of socialites in the Orange Gardens.

The softest of tropical breezes furnished the perfect accompaniment to the afternoon's activities and the colorful throng found that lunching under fragrant orange trees and watching the fascinating fashion parade to Emil Petti's music an ideal combination.

Following the Buffet Luncheon and Style presental, Mr. Daniel Dulany Hunter, the club's secretary, conducted the weekly Tombola assisted by Mrs. Ritchey Farrell and Mr. Thomas Goodwin, famous amateur golfing ace.

Among the many attractive luncheon gatherings noted in the Orange Gardens was Mrs. Harry Gifford's party for Mrs. Robert H. Morse, Mrs. Marvin Hughitt, Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Bert Winters, Mrs. Charles M. Hayes, Mrs. Olaf Nelson Tevander, Mrs. Nettie Livermore, Mrs. Charles A. Klotz, Mrs. Jesse A. Smith, Mrs. Ruth Goodwillie, Mrs. George Leewitz, Mrs. Catherine Legget, Mrs. Edwin S. Beck, Mrs. Charles Herendeen and others.

Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen was hostess to a small party. Mrs. Alexander Hadden had eight in her luncheon gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Chandler lunched together. Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver had several in their party. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sawyer entertained. Mrs. William Yeager had several guests. Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis gave a luncheon party for Mrs. Arthur Curtis, Mrs. William S. Buller and Mrs. June Holbrook.

Mrs. Frank C. Henderson was hostess to Mrs. Gils Chester Stedman, Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. Robert Honeyman, Mrs. Louise Leach, Mrs. Van Lear Black, Miss Louise Guyol, Mrs. Jack Dean, Mrs. Frederick Heressoff, Mrs. Marcellus H. Gallup, Mrs. Frances Randolph, Mrs. Charles Easton, Miss Peggy Easton, Miss Polly Easton, Mrs. Frank Kolb, and Mrs. Ralph C. Bennet.

Among others entertaining at the Tombola and Fashion Show were Mrs. C. C. Brace, Mrs. James Bohannon, Mrs. William Russell Huntley, Mrs. S. Fahs Smith, Mrs. O. E. Thurber, Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Mrs. J. Terry West, Mrs.

George C. White, Mrs. William S. Barstow, Mrs. George McLellan, Mrs. Henry S. Moody, Mrs. James Drew, Mrs. Francis A. Hosack, Mrs. E. Hope G. Slater, Mrs. Morton Leffingwell Fouquet, Mrs. Charles Randle, Mr. Lindsley Loring, Mrs. Alexander Hadden, Mrs. Ernest G. Howes, Mrs. E. P. Kennedy, Mrs. George Shevlin, Mrs. James Baum, Mrs. William Knight, Jr.

Miss Paula Uihlein was hostess to several friends. Mrs. J. C. Belden gave a small luncheon party. Also entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver, Mrs. William Yeager, Mrs. Samuel Heilner, Mrs. Thomas M. Royal, Mrs. Ralph Rainford, Mrs. Wiley Reynolds, Mrs. Ward Ames, Mrs. Vincent Mulford and others.

Keen interest is being shown in the weekly Backgammon Tournaments at the club. Each Tuesday night finds many of the club's members and guests scheduled to participate in the games. Many of the players make plans to entertain at the buffet dinner prior to the tourney. The continually swelling list of entries for the tournament indicates the prevalent interest in this weekly event and the social colony's preference for this fascinating pastime.

A perusal of the reservations for the Tuesday night Backgammon Tournaments at the Everglades Club finds a list of names that read like an excerpt from "Who's Who" and the "Social Register."

The highlight of the decorated Everglades Club is to be encountered in the transformed "Card and Ballroom" with its sliding roof and gorgeous mirrors. Glimpsed through one of the lovely circular windows. The graceful branches of an enormous Banyan tree lends a fairy-like beauty to the scene.

International Rendezvous In The Bahamas

NASSAU, jewel of the Bahamas, is once again the international meeting place for a cosmopolitan crowd drawn from two continents. From Europe come many of the continent's leading families and from this hemisphere, Nassau is welcoming a group of notables from Canada and America. Since two-hour service by plane has brought the Bahamas as close to resorts in south Florida as a motor jaunt from Palm Beach to Hialeah, many of the smart set are shuttling back and forth from Palm Beach to Nassau to enjoy the best features of both resorts.

The crystal clear waters of the Bahamas furnish an anchorage for many of the finest of the luxury yachts, with Mr. Axel Wenner-Gren's fabulous "Southern Cross" still the flag ship for the Nassau yacht fleet. The Swedish industrialist's home "Shangrela" is now accessible by water, with a Venetian Canal completed last year that makes it possible for his guests to alight at his very doorstep without touching shore. Dancing to the ship's orchestra's music aboard the Southern Cross often is followed by a house-party at Shangrela.

Many of the international set, like Mr. Wenner-Gren, are purchasing island homes and a number of the distinguished visitors to Nassau have bought their own private island. Count and Countess de Marigny, the famous Miss Betty Carstairs and other members of the social life of two continents have established island strongholds. Miss Carstairs is one of the extremists in this field, allowing only her closest friends to land on her island retreat. She has a complete, self-sustaining village, with church, a minister from the Church of England, stores and all the village life one finds in small towns in rural England.

Mr. John F. McCarthy, the Bahamas's famous dealer in resort islands, reports that the smart set are showing more interest in island retreats since the outbreak of the war in Europe than ever before. One of the most interesting of the island developments is that of Eleuthera by Mr. Samuel Levy. This enterprising trail-blazer has spent millions of dollars experimenting with the soil of the Bahamas and is now cultivating many thousands of acres, both as a hobby and to help make the Bahamas self-sustaining.

Mr. George Murphy, known as one of the greatest factors in the development of Nassau into a leading winter resort, is another pioneer in this field. His farming projects on the outer islands are famed for their practicality and their aid in furnishing work for many native Bahamians.

Beautiful Montagu Park, Nassau's colorful race track, where society gathers every week to chat over cocktails while the island's fiery little horses battle for supremacy, has been teeming with life this season. The most interesting racing schedule in years has attracted many visitors to the Bahamas, and highlighting the activities at Montagu Park are the thrilling polo matches played by the colony's leading mallet wielders.

With the advent of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, social life in Nassau has taken on a new lustre. The popular governor of the Bahamas and his lovely American wife are the center of a continuity of social and civic functions this season. Beautiful Emerald Beach Club, Nassau's exclusive gathering spot for the international set, has served as the background for many of the parties revolving around the Duke and Duchess.

Lady Jane Williams-Taylor, artist, social leader and the colony's most indefatigable leader in humanitarian projects, will again play an active part in raising funds for the Bahamas Humane Society and other worthwhile civic activities. British Relief is of course of primary interest in Nassau, with many drives for this urgent cause being planned for this season.

From the leisurely life engendered by Nassau's dreamy old world background, visitors and residents of the winter cottage colony descend upon the island's modern settings to enjoy an afternoon at Montagu Park following the horses, a few games of tennis at any of the island's immaculately groomed courts, skiing on the translucent waters of Nassau Harbour, and teeing off in a sylvan background of dimpling lakes, tropical trees and the varicolored waters that run parallel to the Bahamas Country Club.

It seems that the thirteenth is no jinx to players at this famous golf club. Recently Dr. F. D. Appleyard of Nassau drove 194 yards to make an ace on the third hole on the thirteenth day of the month. The ball landed on the green about 12 feet from the flag, then rolled into the cup. Dr. Appleyard's ace was the first recorded since Marcel Maury dropped an iron shot for a singleton.

Many of the younger set in Nassau are staging something new in parties these days. Following the precedent established by Miss Diana Duff Frazier last season, tea and crumpets at the bottom of the sea via Ernest Williamson's famous underwater studio has become the social rage in the Bahamas.

From left to right in the foreground are the Duke of Windsor, present Governor of the Bahamas, Sir Harry Oakes, prominent figure in Nassau's social and civic life and Mr. John F. FROM an artistic standpoint the "Bittersweet Ball" to be held in the lovely Jardin Royal Saturday evening (Feb. 1) will be the most beautiful of the series of galas at Whitehall. Renee and Root, ballroom aristocrats, will be featured as the hero and heroine of the lyrical operetta. The favorite ballroom dancers of the continental set, their grace and suave rhythm is reminiscent of Paris and the Riviera.

In the moonlit setting of the Jardin Royal over-looking Lake Worth, the archways will be draped in huge orange and yellow chiffon curtains. Orange, yellow and gold serpentine will be intertwined with lanterns in the palms casting a golden glow over the dancers, with Niki Raymond's danceable music echoing across the waters.

The "Pavilion de Paganinni," a fete galante, to be held Saturday evening, February 8, will star the incomparable D'Ivons, a ballroom team whose interpretation of Morton Gould's "Pavanne" is the talk of the terpsichorean world. Sara Ann McCabe, young and beautiful thrush, who recently finished a long engagement with Guy Lombardo's orchestra at the Roosevelt Grill in New York, will be introduced to Palm Beach society at this gala.

A gypsy rendezvous, "Chez les Tzigane," is the intriguing title for the dinner-dance on Saturday, February 15, with a trio of Russians from a swank Miami Beach hotel as strolling romanes in the Russian manner.

One of Palm Beach's graceful yachting fleet salutes the lovely Palm Beach Biltmore Hotel, with its impressive turrets and tropical charm.

One of the most elaborate of the series on Saturday, February 22, will be the "Bal des Blackamoors" a fantasy in black and white, featuring a fashion parade of shimmering sequin and jet-trimmed evening gowns.

"New Orleans Gaiete" (a Pink Party in old New Orleans) will take place on Saturday, March 1, duplicating the spirit of the New Orleans Mardi Gras with all its holiday glamour.

Duplicate in the Louis XIV Lounge on Wednesdays with Mrs. W. Willis Wilder as hostess is attracting the intelligensia and the enthusiasts who take their bridge seriously. David Brown of Waterbury, Conn., and Palm Beach, youthful addict, does the scoring. Mrs. Wilder's small intimate bridge-luncheons on Tuesday and Fridays attract many hostesses who are entertaining house-guests from the frozen north. Luncheon is served in the Jardin Royal followed by bridge in the handsome Gold Room.

Many winter visitors are attending the bi-weekly children's aquatic carnivals at the Sun and Surf Club which is a lively spot these gay, sunny days. On Wednesdays and Sundays, an innovation is the series of International Dinners arranged by William Dino, the club's new manager. Of an informal nature, the parties are held in the moonlit patio, a beautiful tropical setting. The first party was a Swedish smorgasboard followed by a dinner of Swedish meatballs, stuffed cabbage and other Swedish specialities.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Law of Pelham are passing two weeks at Whitehall. He is vice president of the Consolidated Gas Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fall of Webster Groves, Mo., are at Whitehall for a few days.

Jorn Winner, manager of the Arthur Murray Studio at Whitehall, and his pretty partner, Ann Chadwick, who introduced the Samba at the Brazilian gala and Samba soiree in the Jardin Royal.

NEW and sometimes unique color schemes startle the fashion world, live a short time and then are heard of no more! Deviating from this usual method, the season's most popular theme, red, white and blue, not only received unprecedented acclaim, but—as the season advances, the prestige increases. This smart tri-color plan is seen wherever smart women gather; from beach and casual sports clothes, through afternoon and formal evening attire.

Sometimes the costume carries the entire color scheme—very often, the accessories strike the red, white and blue note. Quite frequently, white is the background for the red and the navy accents. Whatever the arrangement, the resultant effect is always pleasing—and ageless; equally as appropriate for the debutante as for her grandmother.

Following in the same tempo as the patriotic color scheme—the military style details! They are omnipresent—throughout the entire wardrobe. Leading this fashion parade are the trench coats; originally designed for casual wear, but appear as evening coats too. Military capes are much to the fore this winter and promise to be even more popular, come spring. There is nothing which gives a woman a more regal appearance, or an air of smart nonchalance—than a flowing cape with epaulets of gold braid on the shoulders!

Brass buttons trim everything—sports dresses, casual dresses, casual coats, fitted jackets which top daytime and dinner frocks. Another military influence becoming more popular all of the time is the gold embroidered emblem on the sleeve of the dress, the coat or the suit jacket. Belts too, have gone the way of all accessories—in red, white and blue with gold-colored eagle buckles!

A salute to the navy in the chic navy blue berets and the sailor-collared frocks—middy blouses are also staging a return to vogue; in modernized versions for both informal and formal occasions! Costume jewelry appears in the patriotic tri-colors, and in gold with eagles and flags as the decorative medium. Cigarette cases and compacts flaunt stars and stripes!

A striking red, white and blue outfit noted on Worth Avenue recently, was that worn by Mrs. Byron Chandler—white sports shirt and shorts, bright red cardigan, navy blue sports shoes, white socks. For the fashion show and Tombola at the Everglades Club, Mrs. Chandler chose a gay red print. In both instances, she was hatless—her blond hair in becoming semi-upward coiffure.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. James Butler Macguire, the former Mary Jane Cuddihy, was outstanding among the dancers at the Patio one evening recently, attired in an all-white bouffant gown of net. Both the bodice of the gown and the transparent shoulder cape were dramatically trimmed with ermine tails.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Delany Hunter, was another smartly gowned Patio guest, the same evening. She chose vanilla beige for her high-necked, long-sleeved dress—accented with rows of buttons down the back of the bodice and on the fitted sleeves; the skirt, full and flowing. Mrs. Hunter's reddish blonde hair was done in a chic pompadour with jasmines outlining the chignon.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

As a contrast to the bright-colored casual clothes so much the vogue in the Colony, Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien chose an all-white outfit for shopping on Worth Avenue. A white slack suit and white shoes!

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Lady Oakes, who with Sir Harry attended the formal opening of Whitehall, later going on to the Patio, chose a lovely all-white ensemble.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Robert Appleton, wore a striking outfit at the Everglades Club fashion show and Tombola—orange and yellow print jacket-dress, with matching turban. The jacket featuring the new outside pockets.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Ward Ames, another smartly dressed spectator at the Everglades Club fashion show and luncheon, was entirely in white—effective with her sun-tanned complexion. Her white postilion hat flaunting a brown band for interesting contrast.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

In the Paramount Theatre audience the other evening, Mrs. Harrison Williams, in chic all-black with silver fox jacket! For shopping on Worth Avenue, one sunny day, Mrs. Williams wore a dashing slacks outfit—the short-sleeved, high-necked sweater, featuring the new ribbed shoulder detail.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

To accent her beautifully coiffed gray hair, Mrs. T. Preston Davis, chose a poudre blue and white, one-piece printed frock at the Everglades Club Tombola-luncheon.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. John Benjamin of New York City, house guest of Mrs. Henry Ittleson, was behind those enormous harlequin-shaped dark glasses at Hialeah. She wore a peach-colored sharkskin dress with jacket in same tint of angora.

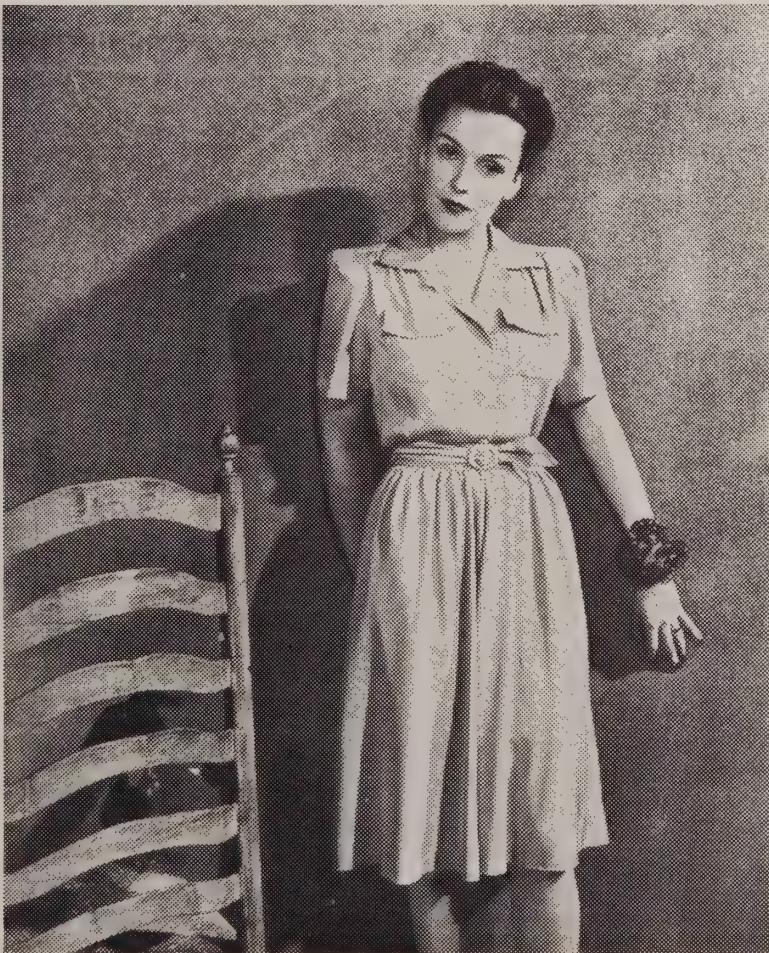

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Resort Fashions

Coat and dress ensemble from Jay Thorpe for resort wear. The dress is a classic shirt-waist model of cocoa-and-white printed silk. The collarless coat of cocoa sheer wool is belted casually, and is lined throughout with the dress fabric. The ensemble is worn with Jay Thorpes draped wool turban caught with a wooden skewer.

Soft folds add feminine grace to this three-piece playsuit designed by B. H. Wragge for Bonwit Teller. The separate dirndl skirt is gathered on a belt waistband and gentle gathers at the shoulders of the shirt give fullness over the bosom. The trim shorts are not bulky when worn under the skirt, and of course you will use the shirt with its big pockets with slacks and suits. This costume comes in white, delft blue, salt-glaze gray and butter-crock yellow, colors inspired by the muted earthy hues of pottery in the early American cupboards. Made of soft acetate and rayon crepe.

Society Aiding War Relief

CONTRARY to popular notion that all is play and no work in Palm Beach is the feverish activity of the smart resort colony in innumerable branches of War Relief work. Practically every able member of society here has some task to do for some organization. Many socialites have important key positions in national groups in New York and Washington. The majority of these groups have established local headquarters and local committees to carry on their assistance while spending the winter in sunny climes. A survey of the groups now giving their leisure moments to war relief work include the following organizations now functioning locally: American Red Cross, British War Relief Society, Inc., Bundles for Britain, Inc., House of Jade Charity Drive for funds for British War Relief and American Red Cross, and the British American Ambulance Corps, Inc. In addition to these active committees there have been given and will be given throughout the season a number of functions to lend aid through other mediums for the devastated areas in London and the British Refugee Children.

Surgical dressings are for the moment occupying the attention of our local chapter of the American Red Cross. There is little need to enumerate the presence of the Red Cross in all types of disaster and chaos. Knitting also is a function of the group which had its annual Roll Call Membership Campaign January 15. Free wool and knitting needles are supplied volunteers at the Wiltbank shop, Everglades Arcade. Surgical dressings are not only being urged for British relief but are also being made to supply American hospitals and army posts. Mrs. Henry Robinson Rea, for twenty-one years a member of the National ruling body of the Red Cross, is the Palm Beach chairman and one of the group's most diligent workers and organizers. Mr. Alexander H. Rutherford is chairman of the Roll Call. Other members of the Palm Beach Committee, many of whom are actively engaged in more than one war relief group are Mrs. Roscoe T. Anthony, Mrs. Clifford Vail Brokaw, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mr. Hugh Dillman, Dr. Edmund LeRoy Dow, Mrs. Joseph Frederick Gunster, Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock, Mayor James M. Owens, Jr., Mrs. Wiley R. Reynolds, Mrs. Alexander H. Rutherford, Mrs. Francis Shaughnessy, Mrs. Edward Shearson, Mr. John Shepard, Jr., and Mrs. E. H. G. Slater.

The local chapter of Bundles for Britain, Inc., has been working since the early season at their headquarters on 232 South County Road and their knitting center, 317 1-2 Worth Ave. In addition to the knitted goods which are sent directly to Britain from the New York office the organization has on sale innumerable articles, the proceeds of which go towards the purchase of boots, medical supplies, cots, and blankets for stricken areas in Britain. The recently established sales booth at the The Breakers is another center of Bundles for Britain which also supplies knitting supervision and wool as well as pins, brooches, cigarette cases, bags, stationery for the cause. The organization has given two teas to benefit the funds. Mrs. John H. Gibbons was hostess at the first and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes was in charge of the second. It is their plan to hold these British teas weekly.

One of the most active members of the Bundles for Britain, Inc., is Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, executive chairman of the local group as well as vice-president. Many members of the Palm Beach colony are giving their time to serve at the headquarters and knitting centers. The Hon. Mrs. Frederick E. Guest is President. Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury is Honorary President. Other members of the official committee are: Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Chairman; Mr. Hugh Dillman, chairman of Entertainment committee, Mr. Bert C. Teed, Treasurer; Mr. John H. Morice, Assistant Treasurer. Mrs. McAlpin Bell is in charge of the knitting.

Closely allied with the Bundles for Britain, Inc., is the British War Relief Society, Inc. Joint functions are scheduled to be given by the combined groups later in the season. Headquarters of the British War Relief group is at 14 Via Parigi, and membership includes many prominent Palm Beachers. Honorary Chairman of the local committee of the organization is Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock are Working Chairmen. Co-vice chairmen are Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and Mrs. Aksel P. Wichfeld. Mrs. Henry K. Harding and Mrs. Bert C. Teed are the secretary and treasurer respectively.

The British War Relief Society, Inc., together with the Bundles for Britain, Inc., gave a tea on January 15. One of the coming events of the season which will be sponsored by the combined groups is the Rule Britannia Ball of which Mr. Hugh Dillman is chairman. This social function promises to be one of the important affairs of the winter and will be given at the Everglades Club to raise funds which will be divided between the organizations. Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock is co-chairman of the Joint Committee. Other members of the committee which is composed of resorters from each organization are Mrs. Robert D. Huntington, Mrs. Lorenzo E. Woodhouse, Mrs. Leland Eggleston Cofer, Mrs. Diana A. Guest, Mrs. Marion Sims Wyeth, Mrs. George E. Kent, Jr., and Mr. Hugh Dillman.

Through the medium of one of the most magnificent arrays of Chinese Jade Carvings ever to be assembled together the House of Jade Charity Committee has already acquired a daily increasing fund which will go to American Red Cross funds and British War Relief at the end of the season. Mr. Stanley Charles Nott, author and international authority on jade, assembled the exhibit which was opened by Mayor James M. Owens, Jr., a member of the Charity Committee on January 9. Since that time the fabulous collection of Chinese Art brought together from a number of private collections, has been visited by scores of winter colonists and art enthusiasts. Funds are raised through donations for the official Catalogue of the Exhibition which is a beautifully bound and illustrated book written by Mr. Nott. Purchasers of the book donate to the fund any amount they desire, which is sent to Mr. Bert C. Tweed, Treasurer of the Charity Committee. In addition to being a volume which arouses interest because of the wonderful and priceless exhibition it catalogs, the book is a memento of a worthy cause. At the end of the drive, funds for British War Relief will be sent directly to the Dowager Queen Mary.

Palm Beach Sport Fishing

WITH sunny skies bringing perfect weather to the world-famous sport-fishing grounds off the shores of Palm Beach, a host of anglers have been out in the Gulf Stream daily participating in the Annual Silver Sailfish Derby.

Early reports augur well for the host of anglers making the winter trek, and best of all, plenty of eight-footers have been brought in by feminine fishermen as well. Many of the sports writers fraternity representing papers in all parts of the country made early season visits and have broadcast the good reports hither and thither all over the snow-bound north.

Palm Beach's largest sport fishing fleet is now quartered at the Everglades Avenue dock, located in the lake, adjacent to the Beaux Arts Theatre building.

Many of these well known skippers, previously berthed at the Poinciana Boat basin, moved to the new location because of their desire to avoid waiting for the draw-bridge every time their parties wanted to go out.

These charter boats include such famous craft and skippers as Capt. Walt Githens of the Miss Sally, Capt. Rudy Steinhauser of the Black-jack; Capt. Tom Jones of the Mirammy; Capt. Eddie Dowling of the Marlin; Capt. Carl Darenberg of the Fortenate; Capt. W. R. Wickham of the Alma and Capt. Crawford Savage of the Craw-Bil. Capt. John A. Rupp is the dockmaster.

Several of these boats have ship to shore radio, and all are equipped for a trip to the islands of the Bahamas. All the captains know these waters like a book and can keep you interested for hours with their stirring yarns of the Florida coast.

Private craft berthed at the Everglades Avenue dock include, Em Jay, owned by J. E. McAuliffe; Donna Marie, owned by Mr. B. F. Stout; White Flash, owned by Col. Frederick Housman; Content, owned by Mr. E. J. Krause; Ginger, owned by Mr. G. Sturdevant; Hookey III, owned by Mr. C. B. Alexander; Anhinga, owned by Miss Alice DeLamar.

The Everglades Avenue dock fleet of fishing cruisers were out in full force recently, either fishing in the Gulf Stream or carrying parties of curious visitors to observe the S. S. Manhattan aground three miles north of Palm Beach.

Otto Konz and Glen Sturdevant of New York city fishing aboard the boat Ginger caught three sailfish and released two.

J. Luke of Chads Ford, Pa., and Hollywood, Florida aboard the Craw-Bil, Captain Crawford Savage and boated one sail which was released.

Mr. Philip Dunne of Beverly Hills, Cal., fishing aboard the Blackjack, Captain Rudy Steinhauser landed a large sail.

Captain Walter B. Githens of the Miss Sally and Captain Tom Jones of the Mirammy also had parties who cruised as near to the Manhattan as was possible.

Mr. E. J. Krause entertained Mr. Jack Kennedy and Mr. Douglas Boyle on his yacht, the Content. Each member of the group caught and released a sailfish.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dunne of Beverly Hills, Cal., were aboard the Blackjack, Captain Rudy Steinhauser. Mrs. Dunne caught two fish releasing one. The larger of the two was seven feet ten inches long and weighed 65 pounds.

Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Mooseman of Pontiac, Mich., fished from the Secret, Captain John Weihe. The physician caught a handsome specimen slightly over seven feet in length.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bailey of Ocean City, Maryland, were aboard the Craw-Bil with Captain and Mrs. Crawford Savage. Mrs. Savage boated two sails which were released.

Dr. Philip Marvel, Jr., of Atlantic City, N. J., fished from the Red Pepper, Captain Bill Evans. He caught a sailfish measuring seven feet four inches.

Miss Harriet Flowers of Indianapolis who is a guest at The Vineta Hotel landed her first sailfish and joined the ranks of accomplished feminine anglers when she brought a hefty specimen to gaff weighing 72 pounds and measuring 7 feet 11 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Q. Allyn of Cleveland, Ohio, also of The Vineta who accompanied Miss Flowers landed dolphin with Mr. Allyn bringing in a sizable sailfish. They were out with Capt. Upthegrove aboard the "Howdy."

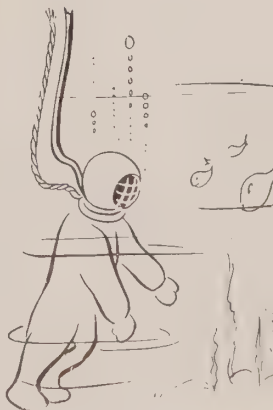

Mr. Bayard Heimer of New York City, landed his first sailfish off the shores of Palm Beach, measuring 7 feet 3 inches, which he brought aboard after a spirited tussle.

Miss Helen J. Mooreshead and William Moran, also of New York, who were out with Mr. Heimer, brought in a number of kingfish. They were out with Capt. John Weihe aboard the Secret from the Everglades Avenue dock.

Mrs. Thomas Dyer of Stamford, Conn., who with Mr. Dyer is spending the season at The Vineta Hotel, entered the class of accomplished feminine anglers when she hooked and boated a 60-pound sailfish in the waters of St. Lucie inlet. It took Mrs. Dyer about three-quarters of an hour to bring the huge specimen to gaff.

Symbolic of the thrilling sport of sailfishing is the attractive emblem of the famous Sailfish Club of Florida, renowned the world over for the many prominent personages who are members or who have made this outstanding club their headquarters while fishing off Palm Beach.

Ormond Beach

ONCE again Ormond Beach will be the mecca for golf enthusiasts, judging from a panoramic view of the sports program for the season. This sport is of primary importance among resorters although by no means alone in the realm of local sport. Other diversions offered include tennis tournaments, horseback riding, swimming and fishing.

February in Ormond Beach is the "Month of Golf." Besides the two major tournaments—the 23rd men's Ormond Beach championship from February 4 to 8 and the 16th women's South Atlantic championship, February 25 to March 1, there will be the 4th annual winter golf tournament of the Philadelphia Graphic Arts Golf Club, starting February 17 and continuing through the 20th. The group are scheduled to check in the Hotel Ormond on February 15 where they will remain until the 22nd.

It is hoped Bobby Dunkelberger, of High Point, N. C., winner of the Ormond Beach championship last season, will be able to be on hand to defend his title a week hence when the qualifying round opens on the links of the Ormond Beach Golf Club. Isaac "Ike" Lincoln Merrill, formerly of Camden, Me., and now a resident of Daytona Beach, who competed in the recent Lake Worth tournament, has entered again, making his ninth appearance in the East Coast classic. He won the event in 1934 and 1936 and has been runner-up on two occasions. Merrill has held every golf title in this section and when a student at Rollins College played No. 1 on the golf team. Dana Steele, of Tamworth, N. H., and Daytona Beach, has also sent in his entry. Steele has competed in this tourney for the past five years. L. J. Noah, Jr., of Old Greenwich, Conn., semi-finalist last year where he lost to Merrill in a close match, will be a strong contender as he has had several scores under 70 this season and will bear watching in the match play rounds.

Many season guests have arrived at the Hotel Ormond to take occupancy of their regular suites for the winter months, and include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. House, who passed the summer at Rangle Lake, Me., and the fall season at the Plaza Hotel in New York; Mrs. C. D. Jones, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Steinmetz and Miss Mary Brutzman, of The Bossert, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Schoenewolf, of Baltimore, Md.; the Rev. S. DeLancey Townsend, rector emeritus of All Angels Church in New York, and Mrs. Townsend and Miss Helen O. Rand, who calls Ormond Beach her home and who spends the spring and fall months in New York and her summers in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Singmaster, of Philadelphia, Pa., passed several days at the Ormond before going to the Southern part of the State, as did Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, of Douglaston, L. I., who went to Palm Beach where they spend the season at The Breakers.

The first Saturday dinner dance of the present season at the Ormond was held last week. These affairs will be a fixture throughout the winter and will be preceded by dancing in the Cocktail Lounge from 6:30 to 8:00. The hotel's Arthur Murray dance team — Teresa Alvarez and Robert Haines — will exhibit the latest ballroom steps in both the Lounge and Dining Room and will arrange special features for the coming Saturday parties. Joseph Stearns and his Swing Band furnish music for these occasions and also entertains with his trio, offering unusual arrangements of the popular tunes.

The Ormond Beach cottage colony is an interesting one and newcomers this season include Mrs. Ralph C. Hird, of Englewood, N. J., who is occupying her new home on the Ocean Shore Boulevard, north of the golf club, and Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robbins, of Cleveland, Ohio, have taken the Max K. Reynolds house on the Lower River Road.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Noah, Sr., of Old Greenwich, Conn., have joined the winter colony and are occupying the Joseph McManus residence on South Atlantic Avenue. The Noahs were married December 2 and she is the former Mrs. J. W. Beller, of Washington, D. C., one of the District of Columbia's outstanding women golfers. L. J. Noah, Jr., well-known amateur golfer, is with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Adriance, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who both passed their winters here before their marriage several years ago, have purchased the D. H. McConnell home on South Atlantic Avenue and are in residence with their two small daughters. Mrs. Adriance will be remembered as the former Barbara Lane.

Society at this resort has turned its attention to the call for aid for Britain by organizing a unit of "Bundles for Britain" with Mrs. George Butler Smith, of New York, as president. The group meets Mondays and Fridays of each week at Mrs. Smith's ocean-front cottage. Many affairs have been planned to raise money to carry on this work. Also a branch of the East Volusia Country Chapter of the American Red Cross has been sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. James Church, of which Mrs. Macon Thornton is president. The Red Cross rooms on Granada Avenue in Ormond Beach are open all day Thursday and tea is served to the workers.

On January 14 a "Get-Acquainted Tournament" was held at the Ormond Beach Golf Club, followed by an approaching and putting contest in the afternoon. Mrs. Ralph C. Hird and Mrs. L. J. Noah, Sr., carried off the honors in the ladies' match with a combined net of 165. Mrs. John P. Adriance was the approaching and putting event winner with an 8. L. J. Noah, Jr., and D. L. Hazard, of Narragansett, R. I., topped the men's division with a net of 148, while A. E. Moore, of New Britain, Conn., was the winner of the approaching and putting match. A three-day 18 hole selective score tourney is under way as this issue of Life appears on the newsstands, with prizes for ladies and men.

The benefit card party for St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Ormond the evening of January 23 with the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. Mullally, as general chairman. It proved to be one of the most successful affairs ever sponsored by the church and more than 200 persons were in attendance.

Facing the ocean and overlooking the Ormond Beach golf course are the Mediterranean villas of George A. Zabrinskie and Arthur M. Jones, of New York; the winter homes of Burnham S. Colburn, of Biltmore Forest, N. C.; Reamy Field, of Cincinnati, and the modernistic dwelling of Frederick Dana Marsh, well-known mural painter of New Rochelle, N. Y. Also the winter residences of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Mock, and Mrs. George Butler Smith, of New York; Mrs. Willard Thompson, of Englewood, N. J.; Philemon H. Robbins, of Hartford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. James S. Lawrence, of Savannah, Ga.; Norman B. Perkins, of Williamsburg, Ky.; and Charles B. Prettyman, Jr., of Philadelphia.

A picnic luncheon under tall trees while a group of the older crowd enjoy a go at croquet at colorful Ormond Beach

Along the banks of the Halifax River are the estates of Mrs. Albert Frederick Wilson, of Rogers Rock, N. Y.; William and Henry Clay Irons, of New York; George Shiras, 3rd, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Sidell Tilghman, of Madison, N. J.; Max K. Reynolds, of Marquette, Ill.; Mrs. Joseph R. Ellicot, of Nyack, N. Y.; Mrs. Harriet L. Kaime, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Lawrence L. Keeler, of Whitinsville, Mass.

Other winter residents at Ormond Beach include Mr. and Mrs. Heustace Hubbard and Miss Deborah Hubbard, of Elizabethtown, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. George Eustus Potts, of Willsboro, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. C. Brooks Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Oakes Ames, of Lowell, Mass.

The members of the local branch of the League of American Pen Women are guests this afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dana Marsh, of New Rochelle, N. Y., at their estate on the Ocean Shore Boulevard. The Marshes will address the group on the subject of "Modernistic Art", in which both are interested, since Mr. Marsh is recognized as one of the foremost mural painters in the country and Mrs. Marsh has made a study of early American woodcarvings.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Robbins, of Cleveland, Ohio, who have passed a number of seasons in Ormond Beach, have leased the Max K. Reynolds house on the Lower River Road for the season.

The Ormond Beach unit of the East Volusia Chapter of the American Red Cross has been organized and is sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary of St. James Church, of which Mrs. Macon Thornton is president. The Red Cross rooms, located on Granada Avenue, will be open Thursdays throughout the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bomann, of Scarsdale, N. Y., accompanied by her daughter, Miss Peggy Brooks, are expected to arrive here some time during the coming week to open the Irons estate on John Anderson Highway where they will remain for the season.

The opening of "The Casements", a unit of the Fairmont Junior College for young women, of Washington, D. C., scheduled for January 15 was postponed until February 1 as renovations to the main building, former winter home of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., from which it took its name, have not been completed. Miss Maud van Woy, headmistress, is on hand and is rushing the work so that everything will be in readiness by the first.

Early season guests at the Ormond include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. House, Rev. and Mrs. S. DeLancey Townsend, Mrs. E. A. Tredwell, Mrs. C. D. Jones, Mrs. C. L. Steinmetz and Miss Mary Brutzman, all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Schoenewolf, of Baltimore, Md., and Frederick K. Moore, of Cleveland, Ohio. Others at the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lovely, of Springfield, Vt., Scott German, of Newark, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Singmaster, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ware, 3rd, of Oxford, Pa., have left to continue their motor trip to the Southern part of the State and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, of Douglaston, L. I., departed for Palm Beach.

Ormond Beach is attracting an interesting group of suntanned, blithe members of the nation's younger set this year, with the miles of bridle paths through the fragrant pine forests teeming with life and color, as well as the many other sports settings in this famous resort. Beach, fairways and the immaculately groomed tennis courts of Ormond Beach present an invigorating picture of carefree gaiety. Bronzed, lithe youngsters are transforming staid Ormond Beach from a formerly conservative and quiet resort into a counterpart of the Continent's famous spas.

The youngsters at Ormond Beach find that this famous resort has everything in outdoor sports, including horse-back riding through cool peaceful forests, for their entertainment.

Happy visitors who bring the delights of surf and the big rays of the sun to Ormond Beach.

Sinking that important putt doesn't seem half so important under Florida skies, where the game is secondary to the beauty of the setting.

Miami Beach

WITH the gay spirit of the high season dominating the scene at the Pancoast, distinguished visitors join in the social and sports doings of this ocean front hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Luckett of New York are Pancoasting for a few weeks. In a bridge tournament the other night, Mrs. Luckett took high honors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard M. Dahl are recent arrivals. They are members of the Pancoast Cabana Club, where they gave a luncheon in compliment to Mrs. Maurice Bayard of New York, who is wintering at the Hillsboro Club in Pompano.

Motoring from the Hillsborough Club the other day, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hill of New York entertained with luncheon in the Mediterranean Room at the Pancoast for her daughter, Mrs. Walter Bosserman, Jr., of Winchester, Va. The latter and her husband, Mr. Bosserman are prominent members of the Cavalier Beach Club in Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Charles Henry Cates of Youngstown, a winter colonist for many seasons at the Pancoast, gave a luncheon here the other day for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bentley and their daughters, the Misses Mary and Laura Bentley, also Youngstownians, who are in residence for the winter season in Delray.

Mrs. Vincent Riggio of Chappaqua, N. Y., and her charming daughter, Mrs. M. H. Hackett of Manhattan are guests at the Pancoast. Mr. Riggio and Mr. Hackett are expected soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Bromley of Chestnut Hill, Pa., members of the winter colony for many years at the Pancoast, are prominent box holders at the race track in Hialeah. Their horses, stabled at Hialeah for the past few months, ran at Tropical Park earlier in the season, and are now racing at the Hialeah track.

The honeymooning Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kuhn of Detroit are guests at the Pancoast. Their marriage was recently solemnized in St. Mary's Church in Detroit. The bride is the former Miss Margaret Friederichs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Friederichs. Mr. Kuhn, who also has a home in Palm Springs, Cal., is a nephew of Mr. Herbert Mendelsohn of Detroit, who is a winter resident in Miami Beach.

Colonel and Mrs. Charles Speaks of West Newton, Mass., annual guests, have returned to the Pancoast for their seasonal sojourn. Mrs. Speaks was most attractive at a recent dinner dance in this hotel. Her ruby corded silk dress was topped by a pigeon blood lame jacket adorned with sequins.

Mr. William H. Bingham II has returned to the Pancoast from Bethel, Me. On the trip South, he was accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. G. Bourne Farnsworth and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Neal W. Dale.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Grady of Decatur, Ill., have returned to the Pancoast winter colony as usual. Glimpsed in their box at the races at Hialeah the other day, Mrs. Grady was smartly attired in a navy blue and white sheer ensemble. Blue and white were repeated in the accessories, including a carved ivory necklace. A short sable jacket completed this stunning costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hawkins of Peachtree Street, Atlanta, are at the Pancoast for their annual visit, as are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Studebaker, Jr., of South Bend. Well, 'tis said this foursome went to the dogs the other night . . . that is to the dog races.

Mr. John English of Schenectady and daughter, Miss

Edythe English, one of the most attractive New York debutantes last season, were recent guests at the Pancoast. They will return later this month with Mrs. English. Miss Joan English, student in Miss Finch's Junior College, will join the family here for the Easter holidays.

Mr. Vincent Edward Borges of New York, who has been making an extended stay at the Pancoast, has been a frequent host in this hotel. One twilight recently he entertained in the Canary Cocktail Lounge for Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hay, Miami, Mrs. George Coy, Miss Florence Dornin and Mr. Fred Drake, New Yorkers all, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Roger Fisher of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. G. Searing Wilson of Merion, Pa., has been holidaying at the Pancoast. She is accompanied by her charming daughter, Miss Terry Wilson, a gifted singer, and son, Mr. Rommel Wilson.

Glimpsing the scenic beauty of Florida for the first time, Mr. and Mrs. John Foster of Phoenixville, Pa., have arrived by automobile in Miami Beach, where they are guests at the Pancoast.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Cusolito of De Witt, N. Y., who are making an extended visit at the Pancoast, entertained here this week with dinner in compliment to the newly wedded Mr. and Mrs. Sanford J. Roland of Boston, who are honeymooning in this resort. Mrs. Roland is the former Miss Elizabeth Mackey. This weekend they are giving a party here to mark the birthday anniversary of Mr. Cusolito.

Dr. and Mrs. Allister M. McClellan of New York are guests at the Pancoast for a few weeks. They may be seen daily enjoying water sports on the hotel beach, in which they are joined by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herbert of White Plains, also members of this hotel colony. They are members respectively of the Pelham Country Club and the Lawrence Farms Golf Club in Westchester County, N. Y.

After an airplane jaunt to Nassau, Mrs. John B. Waterman of Mobile has resumed her stay at the Pancoast. She is accompanied by Miss Helen Jemison of Birmingham, and her son Mr. C. B. Waterman, also of Mobile.

Arriving from the Breakers in Palm Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Durlacher of Reno are guests at the Pancoast. Later in the month, they will fly to Havana for a stay.

Mrs. Ella Lowe Gunckel of Dayton has joined the colony at the Pancoast. Mrs. Gunckel, well known in Palm Beach and Miami Beach, is a sister of Mrs. Robert Dunn Patterson, Dayton, who has a winter home in Miami Beach.

Captain Casey Jones, noted World War flyer, and Mrs. Jones, Washington Crossing, Pa., are making an extended visit at the Pancoast. They recently entertained here with a beach party for Mrs. Marion Harper.

Distinguished South Americans, Senor Luis de Urruticoechea, his son of the same name, and a relative, Senor Fernando Echevarria, of Santiago, Chile, who have been visiting in New York, are guests at the Pancoast. Later they will motor to California.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Elden Simpson and his mother, Mrs. George Simpson, all of River Forest, Ill., are passing their first season at the Pancoast . . . and like it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitman, Weston, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Green, Newtonville, Mass., "refugees" from the wrecked S. S. Manhattan, are guests at the Pancoast.

★ ★ ★ Under The Stars ★ ★ ★

THE spotlight of the social season will be focused upon the grand opening of the Colony Club on Wednesday evening, January 29th. Starting with a gala dinner dance to inaugurate its 1941 season, a program of exceptional entertainment has been provided for the enjoyment of the guests. Of worthy comment and certain to be enthusiastically welcomed by all, is the return engagement of that perennially popular master of rhythm, whose name is synonymous with that of the Colony Club—none other than Ernie Holst with his irresistible dance band. To insure an evening of continuous dance music and by way of divertissement is the added attraction of another of the country's leading bands . . . Fernando Caney, with his famous native rumba music, accompanied by Capo and Riela, past masters in the art of rumba dancing.

For several seasons past the Colony Club has been the scene of many brilliant functions, and has entertained many socialites and royal personages from every quarter of the globe, and has been rightly named the "Cross Roads of the world of fashions." Monsieur Raymond, head of the famed "Passy" restaurant in New York City, and well known here in Palm Beach, will once again be "Charge d'affaire." Assisting him will be Mr. John Foglia, of the Ship's Lantern Inn of Milton, New York. With these two prominent restaurateurs at the helm, the cuisine of the Colony Club this season will undoubtedly carve a niche for itself in the hall of fame.

Last week was an eventful one in the social whirl of Palm Beach with the world-famous Patio holding its formal opening on Wednesday evening and its inaugural luncheon on Saturday.

Both affairs were attended by delightful gatherings of smart socialites, the entire atmosphere of the gala occasions being brilliant and sparkling.

Val Ernie and his society orchestra were at their best offering delightful new interpretations of popular songs and playing their own refrain of "Come to the Patio," the club's own theme song.

The sliding glass roof has proven a tremendous success for contributing to the comfort of the many patrons and the new lounge is most popular with those dropping in at cocktail time or desiring an interlude of backgammon between dances.

One of the fashionable parties of a recent evening was that of Mrs. Edward Townsend who had as her guests, Miss Marion Oates, Mr. Donald McClean, Miss Mary Munn, Mr. Harry Brooks, Miss Nannette Hoy and Mr. Hans G. Spitzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Topping, Jr., occupied an umbrella table with Mr. and Mrs. Howell Van Gerbig and Mrs. Charles Crooker.

Capt. Alastair Mackintosh and Mr. Frederick M. Alger, Jr., were at an adjoining table with Mrs. Wesson Seyburn and Mrs. Drayton Cochran.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dean, the latter famous as Miss Fanny Ward, were at a dance floor table with a party including Mrs. Frank Henderson, Mrs. Catherine Legget and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Smith were at a table near the orchestra with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bolger and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bard.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merritt were the center of a gay dinner party consisting of Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, Mrs. Archibald MacNeil, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stratton, Mr. John Walter and Mrs. Dorothy Leary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Salisbury formed a dinner group with Mr. Claude Smith, president of the Biltmore Forest Country Club, and Mrs. Smith, while nearby were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hager with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McAuliffe of Forest Hills, N. Y.

Twosomes also predominated in the festive evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat noted during the supper gala and others observed including, Mr. John Ordway and Miss Shirley Bell, Mr. Russell Hiteman and Mrs. Ernest Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Graf, Miss Ida Louise Tobey and Mr. Robert Silleck, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eichberg, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lahey, Mr. David Legget, and Miss Emily Gwyer.

Also Lieut. Commander John M. L. Rutherford and Mrs. Rutherford, Prince Mikhail Goundoroff and Mrs. Margaret Creem, Mr. Felix Ferry and Mrs. Ritchey Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bacon, Mrs. Edwin Goodman, Mr. William Demuth, Miss Lillian Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Dickerson and Mrs. Jules Mastbaum, Mrs. J. Hodge and Mrs. L. Davies, Mr. Ernest Heater, Mr. Ray McCarthy, Mr. R. P. Clayberger, president of the Winter Golf League of Advertising Interests, Mr. Jack Dwyer, Mr. Robert Lansdell, Mr. Jack Mitchell, Mr. J. E. Hunter, Mr. P. J. Morgan, Mr. Arthur Brown, Mr. Edward U. Roddy, Mr. Robert Kennedy and many others.

New York Letter

Dear Dora:

Delighted to hear from you of course, and not the least bit surprised to find that you are having a grand time in Palm Beach. However, you might be a little less glowing in your descriptions of jasmine scented nights under a tropical moon and basking in the sun, clad in the scantiest of scanty costumes, while the soft trade-winds whisper through picturesque palms. Pity the poor urban girl, who must stay with the ship winter and summer!

In the summer you send us letters extolling the cold, invigorating mountain breezes of the north woods, and the inevitable canard about sleeping under six blankets, while we swelter in our offices with the thermometer at an even hundred degrees. In the winter, we hear that you are acquiring a beautiful sun tan and luxuriating in Palm Beach's incomparable clime, while we huddle over hissing radiators and skid around on icy pavements.

I remember only too well how I used to gloat over the headlines that screamed of blizzards and pneumonia weather in the North, while I reclined in somebody's sun-kissed patio in Palm Beach last year. And speaking of gloating, the Millinery Industry is doing a bit of gloating over Brenda Frazier's sudden switch to wearing hats, after going hatless for years. Brenda startled the crowd at the Colony yesterday, by appearing in a very fetching chapeau.

Another sartorial surprise at the Colony yesterday was Rose Vanderbilt's trim little hat. As far back as I can remember Rose has always affected large cartwheel numéros. Not that her small black hat with a halo effect of aigrettes didn't become her! Her gardenia-like complexion and flashing dark eyes were definitely enhanced by the tiny bit of millinery fluff.

I'm not very likely to forget three seasons ago in Nassau, when Bill Livingston and Ogden were competing for the attention of the lovely Brenda. Bill was a much better dancer than Ogden and all of their friends used to chuckle as Ogden sat glowering while Brenda and Bill danced the rhumba at the Jungle Club. Eventually Howard Hughes, famous 'round the world flyer and movie producer, cut them both out. By the way, what ever did happen to THAT romance? Kathie Hepburn kept the cables burning from Hollywood to the British Colonial Hotel in Nassau, after she read the first story of the Frazier-Hughes engagement.

One of the amazing things about Hughes was that not even his closest friends could get him out of bed before four o'clock in the afternoon. Hepburn obviously knew that and never put in her daily call before that time. Shortly after receiving his call, the famous flyer and movie producer would hop into a shower and dash out to Lady Williams Taylor's house for Brenda. They would fly over to various of the outer islands until around nine o'clock and scare all the shipping in Nassau harbor by making a landing in the pitch dark. Then a quick change and rhumbaing at the island's hot spots until early morning. Ah youth!

The Hamilton Pells certainly put the pallid patricians who stayed in New York this winter to shame at Howard Chandler Christie's birthday party. Their beautiful Palm Beach sun-tan made Will Hays, the movie czar, Lady Decies, Mrs. Joseph B. Long and others look positively anaemic. The Wendell Willkies were there, too. You'd never guess that the Presidential candidate and his wife had just returned from Florida by their complexions. Wendell was quite untouched by the sun as was the lovely and petite Mrs. Willkie.

Countess Alexander de Leslie is down there somewhere and her friends say that she is contemplating a Florida divorce. You'll no doubt be seeing her at Allie Mackintosh's Alibi or the Patio these nights. Do you remember what a furore de Leslie created when he denounced a batch of phony noblemen a while back? As secretary of the Russian Nobility Association, he checked up on phony Princes and corny Counts. Prince Mike Romanoff was one of his victims.

Billy Livingston seemed to enjoy having his draft number called judging from the fun you say he's having down there; but what's this talk about Jakie Webb going in the air corps? I notice that several of your young Palm Beach regulars are being called in the draft. Interested to hear that the James Butler Maguires, honeymooning down there, had to cut their trip short so that Jimmy could report for training. Mary Jane is just as lovely as you say she is. Their marriage up here was really glamorous; over 500 guests at the reception and wedding breakfast.

Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is completely submerged in her "Free Milk Fund for Babies," but may get down to Palm Beach early next month. The milk fund performance of "The Daughter of the Regiment" at the Metropolitan is of course one of the highlights of the season in New York.

The Diamond Horse Shoe has all the glamour and charm of the good old days when Mrs. Hearst stages her yearly performance there. Lily Pons is one of the artists who always does her bit for this popular cause. After all Dora, it is a grand thing. The lives of thousands of sick and undernourished infants have been saved through the efforts of this group.

Josette Daly is chairman of the deb committee of the Milk Fund and Joan Hoffman is vice-chairman. Their aides are Mary Lee Abbott, Elizabeth Knapp, Gloria Kemp, Joan Anderson, Lillian Talmadge Mitchell, Susan Stephenson, Katharine Mortimer, Emma Auchincloss Nash, Enid L. Hewitt, Winthrop B. Palmer, Nancy Sousa and Geraldine Bradley.

Only a few intimate friends attended the wedding of Mrs. Vanderbilt Fair and Jack Warburton recently in her apartment on E. 70th Street. Her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, flew from Miami and the bride's sister, Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Phelps, came from California.

I haven't seen Mrs. William Paley look as smart as she did recently at the Colony since she and her executive husband lunched with Sir Charles Dundas and Lady Dundas in Nassau a few season's back. The sparkling wife of Columbia's guiding genius is always chic, but she was positively sensational at the Colony with dozens of gold bracelets dangling from her arm and swathed in a dazzling leopard skin coat.

For their Nassau engagement with the Governor and the First Lady Mrs. Paley wore the most gorgeous corsage of rare orchids over an evening jacket of sequins that had Lady Dundas practically speechless. The Paleys are very popular in Nassau, where Bill endeared himself to the government by donating loads of his time and the fruits of his years of experience in radio to help them with their new radio station. They expect to be in Palm Beach soon.

As ever,

ELLEN.

Key West

CLUBS and civic organizations are now making final arrangements for the various items of entertainment they are sponsoring.

Prominent among these is the Annual Flower Show of the Key West Garden Club, for which Mrs. Everett Winter, President, has announced the dates of February 28th, March 1st and 2nd. Unique among flower shows the country over, it attracts a large attendance of visitors from all over the country, many of them making the trip specially for this purpose. Usually held in the Lighthouse Building, this locale may not be available to the club this season, because of Key West's increased activity as a naval base.

The annual Tropical Luncheon sponsored by the Key West Women's Club will be held at the Club House Thursday. Key West dishes will be featured exclusively and not only Club members but all winter visitors are invited.

The Key West Society of Artists has chosen the date of February 10th for its third annual Outdoor Mart, to be held in the patio of the Casa Marina. Key West possesses a large and active artistic colony which is greatly augmented during the winter months, and all are invited to show their work. Many names of national renown will be represented. At present the local society has an exhibition at the Davenport Art Museum, Iowa, this being the first time the society has shown elsewhere.

The Key West Yacht Club has chosen February 14th as the date and the patio of the Casa Marina as the place for their annual Benefit Masquerade Ball. The ball is by invitation only, and is usually considered a highlight of the social season. With the present large navy and air force in Key West, these two branches of the service will be well represented.

The Fashion Show which is sponsored annually by the Key West Women's Club has yet to announce the date of its showing. It will be held, however, on the broad piazza of the Casa Marina, with its broad steps and pathway leading through the tropical garden to the sea.

Fishing honors this week went to the Louis C. Sudlers of Chicago. First to Mrs. Sudler for the fine sailfish she caught a couple of days ago, which weighed 43 pounds and measured 6 feet 3 inches. Her husband landed his the following day—a perfect specimen measuring 7 feet but lighter in weight than that caught by his wife—it scaled 38 pounds. Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Netz, of Hackensack, N. J., accompanied them on their first trip, and Mrs. Kirk Williams, of Lake Forest, Ill., on their second trip. The amazing thing of the second trip was, that the party had already speeded up the motor with the intention of returning with a full load of other fish, when wham! wham! on the teaser, and fifteen minutes later the unfortunate fish was aboard. Paul Demeritt was the guide.

The same day Carroll W. Peck and Alvin Sherwood, of Rumford, N. J., went out for half a day's fishing and returned with a nice sailfish—a 6 foot specimen weighing 26 pounds. It fell to Mr. Peck's lure. The preceding day Mr. Sherwood accounted for a fine Cobia weighing 24 pounds.

Three Mediterranean Bonita caused considerable interest on the Casa Marina dock recently. They were brought in by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Platt and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kraut, of New York, who were out with Guide Will Wickers in Pilot One. Their coloring was still beautiful when brought in—like black opals. The biggest was an eighteen pounder, and was placed on the Casa Marina record board.

The Casa Marina is enjoying a season unprecedented in recent years. Among latest arrivals, many of them season guests, are Judge and Mrs. M. E. Harby and Miss Harriet Phillips, of Huntington, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bose, of Rutherford, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hughes, of Brooklyn; Carl S. Chace, Mrs. William Walton and Miss Frances Walton, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Alden Kimball, of East Hampton, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Curley, of Summit, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. Earl LeRoy Wood, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Patterson, of Haworth, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Peck, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sherwood, of Rumford, N. J.; Mrs. C. H. Smoot and Miss Barbara Smoot, of Westwood, N. J.; A. N. Marquis and Mr. and Mrs. Gene B. Heywood, of Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. George J. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Heed, and Mrs. Tony Wons and daughter, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs.

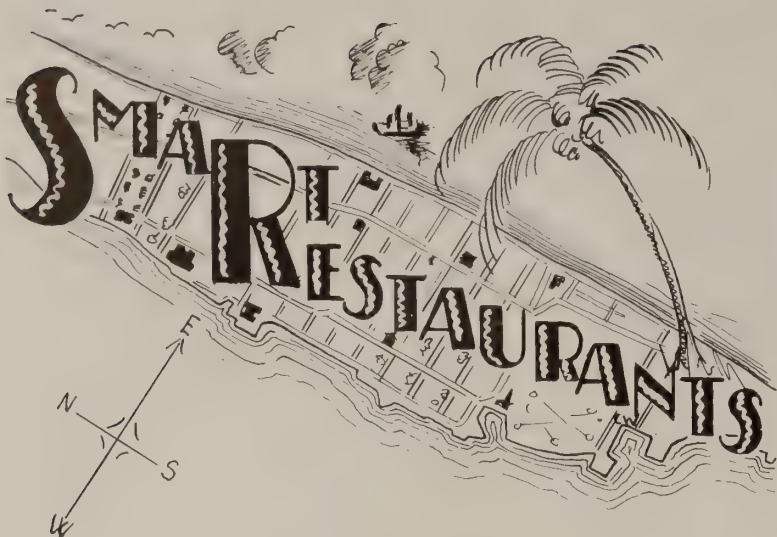

Fluted columns and the Mediterranean white of graciously inviting loggias shaded by tropical palms. One of Key West's lovely gathering spots for the winter visitor.

D. B. Austin and daughters of River Forest, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pearsall, of Hinsdale; Miss Ruth Walton, of Jacksonville, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. George S. Worth, of Wayne, Pa.; Mrs. Charles H. Stewart, of St. David's, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Stabler, of Chevy Chase, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Millard R. Orr, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Chamberlain, of Lakewood, O.; Mrs. Warren E. Shields, of Springfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Porcher, of Chestnut Hill, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reutlinger, of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Don Teetor, of Hagerstown, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gayle, of Richmond, Ind.; and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Evans, of Davenport, Iowa.

The arrival of the first turtle boat of the season is always awaited by native and visitor to Key West alike with keen interest. The former, because stocks of turtle meat have been low for some time, and the latter because the arrival of this boat provides the most interesting sight of the season. The cargo of the "A. M. Adams," now a large one, as this is the first boat to put in since the hurricane season.

THE recent unseasonable weather found the Chambord, noted French restaurant and gathering place of Palm Beach society, a magnet for luncheon and dinner parties. One of the features of the main dining room of this restaurant which is architecturally patterned after the famous Chateau du Chambord in old France is a huge fireplace which radiated warmth and cheer on chilly evenings.

On the annual Red Cross Roll Call day receipts of the Chambord were donated to the American Red Cross. That day also was an occasion for numerous parties given by resorters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Edwards were hosts at a dinner party recently at the Chambord while Mrs. Kenneth G. Smith entertained at a luncheon in the charming Patio Vert.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron DeWitt Miller entertained at dinner one evening. Other hosts on that occasion included Mr. and Mrs. William G. Minner. On another evening recently Dr. Chester H. Morris gave a dinner and in another party were Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Lapham, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Boyd.

In observance of their fifty-first wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. S. Richard Carlisle were honorees at a dinner given by Mr. Frank W. Gay. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Thurber, and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Littel. Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary at the Chambord last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bartlett dined with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich there recently. Others entertaining that evening included Mr. William J. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon, and Major and Mrs. Rudolph Lee. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Woone celebrated their joint birthdays at the noted French restaurant with a dinner party recently.

Mrs. Lydia Hamilton was a luncheon guest of Dr. and Mrs. Andrea Crotti and another party noted was that of Baron and Baroness Louis Pierre du Mont St. Vincent.

Cocktail time in the beautifully appointed lounge of the Chambord is always an occasion for numerous interesting parties. The subtle rhythm of Ramon Littee's Ensemble which also supplies harmonies throughout the dinner hour adds to the charm of cocktail time. Among those who have been noted in the lounge recently are Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Lustig with Mrs. Joseph F. Moran, Mrs. Leonard Mudge, Mr. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Lapham, Mr. John Wemple, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jenkins, Miss Joy Plummer, and Mr. T. Preston Davis.

Mr. Alexander H. Rutherford recently gave a luncheon party as did Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Hine. Mr. and Mrs. Emile Schmidt entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Nesbitt II. Others who have entertained at luncheon or dinner parties at this popular rendezvous include Mr. Milton Fuller, Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs and Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Lockwood, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard B. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guest, Miss Susan B. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. George McClellan, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell F. Riley.

Faultless service is a matter of pride with the staff at Mayerling, and pretty waitresses hover unobtrusively in the background, ready and eager to be of service. Under the direction of Charles, the genial host, guests are assured their slightest whim will be answered.

On warm Palm Beach nights the patio is the scene of many informal dinner parties given by the colonists. Dining under the stars, surrounded by gay, chatting groups, perhaps with a champagne sour or two, guests realize Mayerling has justly gained a reputation as a bit of Imperial Vienna.

An interesting dinner party was given at Mayerling recently with Mrs. Lansing Arno as hostess. Mrs. Arno was in the resort for a few days en route to Nassau. Her dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carey, Mrs. Antoinette Johnson, Mrs. Nicolas Embiricos, Mr. Tommy Goodwin and Capt. Alastair Mackintosh.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Dulany Hunter were dinner hosts to Mrs. Woolworth Donahue, Mr. Manuel Cervantes and Mr. Clemente Ballin. Miss Alice DeLamar has been a frequent dinner hostess there.

Mrs. Wanamaker Munn was hostess at a dinner party to Miss Rosemary Warburton, Major Barclay H. Warburton, Mr. Clemente Ballin and Mr. Manuel Cervantes. Mrs. Munn also entertained at Mayerling in compliment to her house guest, Mrs. Helen M. Patterson.

Mr. Bruno Graf, member of the cottage colony, lunched with Mr. and Mrs. William Q. Cain. Marjorie Oelrichs, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Williams, has been seen at Mayerling frequently.

Prince Mikhail Goundoroff has lunched there often since his return to the resort. Mrs. A. Parker Bryant was a member of a recent tea party at Mayerling.

An interesting twosome glimpsed at a table in the picturesque Patio. The Hon. Mrs. Eileen Plunkett and Mr. Charles A. Munn pause between dances to enjoy chatting with friends. Mrs. Plunkett is a member of the Munn household party at "Amado" this season.

Coral Gables

SOCIAL activities continue at a steady pace at the Miami Biltmore, with golf the chief attraction on the sports calendar. The completion of the ninth annual Men's Amateur Championship last week (Jan. 17) rings up the curtain on the winter golf schedule, there being five other major matches coming up.

The brilliant Aviation Ball at the Country Club proved to be one of the gayest parties yet this season. Held in connection with the all-American Air Maneuvers at Miami, the ball attracted a large, colorful crowd, many army and navy officials coming in full dress uniforms, adding to the brilliance of the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt were among the patrons for the ball, others being Mr. and Mrs. William D. Pawley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Avery Guyton, Mark C. Honeywell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. F. Lowry Wall, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Romfh and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Mahoney.

Others who served as patrons were Capt. and Mrs. Edward V. Rickenbacker, Capt. and Mrs. Gerald F. Bogan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Overton Snyder, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Russell R. Waesche, Major and Mrs. James P. Hodges, Gen. and Mrs. Clarence L. Tinker, Gen. and Mrs. Barton M. Young, Comdr. and Mrs. Kenneth Salisbury and Capt. and Mrs. Charles P. Mason.

The first annual Welcome Home Dinner of the Century Club of Coral Gables was the occasion for another gay party at the Miami Biltmore Country Club (Jan. 16). Charles Milton Newcomb, author and lecturer, told "How to be Happy Though Educated." Seated at the attractively-decorated head table were George A. Hughes of Chicago, president of the club; W. Scott Deming of Indianapolis, Frank O. Headley and Col. P. J. O'Shaughnessy of Coral Gables, and W. Alton Jones and Marquis George MacDonald of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Erneman were among those who were hosts at cocktail parties in their homes prior to the dinner. Another large party was given by Mr. and Mrs. S. Earl Giffen and among their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Russel Des Cognats of Lexington, Ky.

Recent guests at the Biltmore of Percy R. Pyne, 2nd of New York have been Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stevens of New York (Grace Vanderbilt), Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Elbert of South Carolina and Miss Patricia Elbert of New York. Other recent guests of Mr. Pyne were Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Clendenin Ryan, Jr.

Capt. Alastair Mackintosh, Milton W. Holden and Charles A. Munn, Jr., came down from Palm Beach for a few days' stay, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood of New York were over from Sarasota for a brief visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harwood of New York entertained recently in the Cascades. Mr. Harwood was just appointed the new governor of the Virgin Islands by President Roosevelt and has been a guest at the Biltmore before assuming his new duties.

The pool shows at the Biltmore pools which began two weeks ago have been attracting large crowds Sunday afternoons to see not only the fine aquatic exhibition, but also the splendid floor and fashion shows which go with it. Alexander

Ott, who has made a marvelous reputation as director of water sports, is back at the Miami Biltmore for his 15th season.

The delightful Palm Patio attracts large crowds on Sunday afternoons following the pool show. Maximillian Bergere, the popular Biltmore maestro and his orchestra, play for tea dancing and an attractive floor show. Mrs. S. A. Weber was among those who recently entertained in the Palm Patio, her guests being Miss Joan Wilson of Kingston, Jamaica; Miss Vera Weber of New York, Frank Smith of Wilkesbarre, Pa., and Commodore Max Weber of Coconut Grove.

The weather man has been sternly cautioned about dishing up some blue skies and soft breezes next Sunday for the tea dance in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza. That gentleman, the weather man, is going to find himself in very ill repute, and his name will surely go on the black-list unless he mends his ways. Light showers—and just a tiny touch of cold—have interfered with the daily tea dance this past week, but with the weather man "on the spot" now, it is expected that a large gathering will mark the soiree on Sunday.

Palm Beach's historic lake trail winds invitingly along the shores of Lake Worth to remain the last link in the leisurely life of yesteryear.

Those lovely dancers, Georges and Jalna—who incidentally were "discovered" by Edward B. Jouffret in 1934, will make their first appearance in Miami Beach this season Saturday night and will be featured in the entertainment in the palm gardens Sunday.

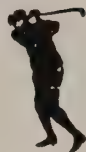

Joining the resort colony this week were Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt of New York and Mrs. Alfred McCosker, also of New York. Mrs. McCosker joined her husband here. He is the chairman of the board of directors for the Mutual Broadcasting system and the president of radio station WOR.

From the Pacific coast are Mr. and Mrs. George P. Brown of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bird of Berkeley, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Conroy of Kansas City, Missouri, are passing a fortnight here as are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Olsan of Dallas, Texas. The C. J. Ryans, who were at the Roney Plaza earlier this season, have returned.

S I N C E 1 7 0 0

For more than two centuries, JAMAICA rums have been freely acknowledged the world's finest. Their superior quality, achieved solely by the distillation process and natural ageing in wood, compares with that of the best imported brandies and whiskies. Their exquisite, distinctive flavour, totally unlike that of other rums, has never been successfully imitated. And their costs are lower than those of comparably fine Scotch whiskies.

Facts about Fabrics

THE STORY OF Douppion

*An Unusual Fabric which reproduces the rare
character and charm of Fine Antique Silks*

DOUPPION is the name given to an unusual type of silk which is hand spun from double cocoons. Of late, fabrics made by Scalamandré from this silk have attained much interest and popularity with the decorative profession; and inasmuch as it differs in many important respects from the more familiar types of silk fabrics, a brief word of description may be of value to the decorator.

Douppion's principal characteristic is the small knot which occurs at irregular intervals in the silk while it is being spun. This tiny knot is responsible for douppion's distinctive texture. Unfortunately, it also closely restricts production of douppion fabrics; for, each time a knot is drawn into the comb of the loom, it must be removed by hand.

When the fabric (which may be of Chinese, Japanese or Italian type silks) is finished, it has the exact appearance of the fine old silks which are prized by connoisseurs for their mellow beauty, richness of texture and soft, warm colorings. This resemblance to fine antique fabrics makes douppion the perfect drapery and upholstery for the period interior.

A most important fact for the decorator to remember and impart to his client is that the essentially hand-made character of douppion—the irregularity of texture and lack of machine-like preciseness which distinguishes it from other fabrics—is due to the varying frequency with which the knot occurs, and forms its main charm.

Another very vital fact about douppion fabrics, misunderstanding of which has occasionally led to disappointment, is its behavior after use and handling. After this fabric has been in use, cleaned, etc., it tends to become slightly thicker, more deeply textured. Thus douppion fabrics steadily improve with not affect the wearing quality in any way, but actually adds to its appearance and richness of texture. Thus douppion fabrics steadily improve with age and use, instead of depreciating.

However, there have been cases in which the decorator or his client, unaware of this fact, have compared the finished yardage with a sample which has been in their possession for some time, and have found an apparent difference in weight in favor of the sample, leading them to believe the finished fabric inferior in quality to the sample, or not appropriate for the purpose intended. That this is not so may be deduced from the explanation above, and we trust that this misapprehension will now be avoided. But should the decorator or his client for any reason be unwilling to accept this characteristic in douppion fabric, it will be more satisfactory to use plain, smooth fabrics which can be exactly regulated.

If you have not yet examined douppion fabrics, we would welcome your visit to our showrooms, where we will be happy to show them to you and to point out the many attractive features which are responsible for their continually mounting popularity.

The Sun never sets on

It gives you a deep sense of satisfaction when you order a drink "made with Gilbey's Gin" to realize that at the very same minute other men who know fine liquors are sitting at far-away windows with that same familiar Gilbey's bottle beside them. For nearly a century now, the sun has never set on Gilbey's Gin . . . because millions of men have found, as you will, too, that Gilbey's makes a great drink greater!
